SOLDIER BONUS BILL SUBJECT TO A DELAY

To Iron Out Differences In Tariff Bill Before Considering Measure

VOTE STANDS 5 TO 3

Conferees Decide to Give Tariff Preference Over Compensation

Washington, Sept. 5.—The soldiers' bonus bill was subjected to another delay today. By a vote of 5 to 3, conferees representing the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee decided to finish ironing out differences in the tariff bill before taking up the bonus. The bonus and tariff having fought each other for weeks for supremacy on congress' legislative calendar, continued their battle royal today in the conference room where Republican leaders are attempting to reconcile the differences between house and senate versions. Senator McCumber, Republican of North Dakota, the "daddy" of both bills, insisted that the onus bill be reported out first but house leaders were of the opinion that the tariff should be dealt with first. McCumber declared the bonus bill will be in the president's hands by the last of this week. Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah and Reps. Fordney, Republican of Michigan, Green, of Iowa, Republican, Longworth, Republican of Ohio and Garner, Democrat of Texas, voted to continue consideration of the tariff before taking up the bonus. They were opposed by Senator McCumber, Simmons, Democrat of North Carolina, and Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, who thought the bonus should be put ahead.

RAY OF HOPE FOR RESCUE OF ENTOMBED MINERS COMES BY REPORTED SIGNALS

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 5.—The first ray of hope coming to the stricken wives and relatives of the forty-six entombed miners in the famous Argonaut gold mine here today were rumors to the effect that imprisoned miners had signalled by means of blasts. Min. officials and mining experts, however, declined to confirm the blast, as coming from the trapped men in the depths of the fire swept mine and attributed the muffled sounds to the falling of rocks. The number of men entombed was officially stated as being 46. One miner who had been working in the Argonaut, shortly before the fire was discovered to be working at the Kennedy mine, yesterday. When this report that signals had been heard had reached Supt. V. S. Garbarini of the Argonaut mine, he said: "I fear it is a mistake. I am afraid it cannot be so." The "old shaft" through which rescuers were frantically working to reach the 75 foot wall of hard green stone, is cleared and they are now piercing the wall with huge air propelled drills. "Good progress" is reported. When this wall is conquered then comes 300 feet of old drift to battle against which is said to be in good condition and no delay is anticipated in removing it. On the 3,600 foot level of the Kennedy mine, where rescuers are also laboring, signal blasts are being set off in the hope they may be heard by the entombed men, the purpose, being to encourage them, if they are alive, and renew hope for their release from their terrible predicament. In the hope of drilling through to the 4,600 foot level of the Argonaut, where the miners are believed to be imprisoned, rescue crews are working from the 3,900 foot level of the Kennedy. Two hundred and fifty feet of the tunnel and 141 feet of quartz remain, to be overcome before the rescuers can reach the unfortunate men.

Sensational Paternity Case In Indiana Reaches Courts

Harry Poulin, Well Known South Bend Merchant, Given Preliminary Hearing On Complaint of Prof. John P. Tiernan, of Notre Dame University.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 5.—The sensational case brought by Professor John P. Tiernan, instructor in law at Notre Dame University, against Harry Poulin, well known merchant, with the paternity of a child born last November to Mrs. Tiernan will reach the courts today. It was expected that Prof. Tiernan would appear in court with the affidavit signed by his wife in which the details of her associations with Poulin are revealed. Mrs. Tiernan is in a state of nervous collapse, is under care of a physician and will not appear in court, it was stated. Poulin in the face of the serious charges, continued to assert his innocence and declared the charge was the last stage of a blackmail plot which began shortly before the birth of the child. "All the details of Tiernan's accusations were told by me to my wife long ago," he said. "She has faith in me and is standing loyally beside me and will defend me against the world."

NO ACTION EXPECTED

Labor Day Passes Without Incident Calling for Governmental Move

Washington, Sept. 5.—The government does not intend to enforce the drastic Daugherty injunction against the striking railroad shopmen to the point of abridgement of free speech and lawful and peaceful assemblage it was officially announced at the White House this afternoon. Washington, Sept. 5.—The gage of battle was thrown today to the Harding administration and the federal courts by William H. Johnston, president of the international association of machinists, 85,000 of whose men are involved in the railroad strike. Standing on the rostrum at a strikers meeting forbidden under the terms of the injunction granted Friday in Chicago by Federal Judge Wilkerson, Johnston dubbed the writ a "big noise" and declared he proposed to stand on his "inalienable constitutional rights."

PEGGY MARSH'S HUSBAND SHOT

Albert L. Johnson, former army aviator, prominent socially in Cleveland and New York and husband of Peggy Marsh, actress and dancer, accidentally shot himself in the breast while in the camp of "Jack" Clifford, dancer and former husband of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, on Lake Chateaugay, near Plattsburgh, N. Y. Johnson, who was spending the summer there with his wife, was cleaning his revolver. Before her marriage to Johnson Peggy Marsh brought suit against the estate of Henry Field, multi-millionaire Chicago department store owner, for a share of the estate for her son, Anthony Marsh, alleging he was Field's son. The Field family settled $100,000 on her. Johnson has legally adopted the baby.

SEEK MEANS TO ASSURE PUBLIC ON COAL PRICE

Social Session to Convene Monday, September 11, On Call of Governor

TO INVOKE POWERS

To Checkmate Attempts to Profit in Coal In This State

Columbus, Sept. 5.—Governor Davis announced today at noon that he would call the two houses of the state legislature to Columbus on Monday, Sept. 11, for a special session for the direct purpose of "enacting legislation that will make it possible to invoke the state's full powers in assuring to the public a sufficient supply of fuel at a fair price." "We intend to use every means that is legally available," Governor Davis declared, in announcing the intended special session, "to obviate the threatened taking advantage by some coal interests of the people of the state by charging them 'all the market will bear' for their fuel needs. I have asked the attorney general to prepare legislation along lines I have suggested which when enacted, will make it possible to control rigidly the prices of coal, and to stop in the inception any attempt at profiteering." Gov. Davis declared that the form of this proposed legislation would be announced later. "I am still very hopeful that the mere enactment of these contemplated laws will alone be sufficient to deter these coal operators in Ohio who have indicated an unwillingness to keep their prices within what must be considered a reasonable bounds, from charging exorbitantly for their product," the governor declared. "I have good reason to believe," he added, "that some producers have never intended to exact more than a fair price."

Rebel Bands of DeValera And Childers Join Forces

Region of Kilworth Now Scene of Warfare According To Dispatches From Ireland—Irregulars Suffer From Lack of Supplies.

Dublin, Sept. 5.—The rebel bands of Eamonn DeValera and Erskine Childers, were reported today to have joined forces and to be operating in the region of Kilworth, in the northern part of County Cork. If this report is true it disposes of the rumor that DeValera was lying at the point of death from double pneumonia. The irregulars are suffering from lack of food and ammunition, and according to information reaching Richard Mulcahy, commander-in-chief of the free staters, their morale has become very low. Belief is growing that the anti-treaty forces will not attempt to block the Dail Eireann when it meets here Saturday. There is much speculation as to whether DeValera will attempt to come to Dublin to attend the session. The free staters have withdrawn their guards from the Ulster frontier in the Donegal region, indicating that a peace agreement between Dublin and Belfast is being worked out. Archbishop Curley of Baltimore, in a sermon at Athlone, expressed deepest sorrow over the situation here. "I am returning to the United States horrified and well nigh stupefied by the picture Ireland is presenting to the world," said the archbishop. "If the Irish bishops were powerless, what could the archbishops do?"

INFANT DROWNED IN SHALLOW POOL

Cincinnati, Sept. 5.—Clen Freeman Perrine, 2 year old son of William C. Perrine, Jr., of Wyoming, O., was drowned in three inches of water at the bottom of a ditch on the roadside near Williamsburg yesterday afternoon when he tumbled down the bank and was stunned. The boy's father had left him in his automobile truck while he went to a nearby farmhouse but the youngster climbed out of the car and fell into the ditch face downward. A physician said he probably was rendered unconscious by the fall and drowned in the shallow pool.

PROTEST ACTION OF SCHOOL BOARD ON SPRING HILL

The names of between 375 and 400 residents of Spring Hill have been signed to the petitions circulated over the neighborhood protesting against the proposed action of the Xenia City School Board in transferring the pupils of the Opportunity School to the Spring Hill Building. Backers of the petitions have not been able to secure an audience with the school board to present the matter, and a meeting of a selected committee with Superintendent C. A. Waltz will be held at the home of Robert Kingsbury, on Rogers Street, Tuesday evening. The meeting has been called at the request of the Mothers' Circle of Spring Hill School, that body having been a moving spirit in the circulation of the petitions. What action will be taken at the meeting as a result of the petitions is not known. The number of names signed to the petitions makes the sentiment of the neighborhood unanimous. According to City Solicitor J. E. Finney there are only about 350 voters on Spring Hill the overlapping number making the decision of the residents more outstanding. Residents of the district complain that the addition of 75 to 100 of these pupils to Spring Hill School will mean that room needed by the regular pupils will be taken, to the disadvantage of the latter. They also point out that the Opportunity School pupils cannot be absorbed and that this will work a hardship on the others.

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Canton, Sept. 5.—James addler, 58, messenger in the Marine bank at Pittsburgh for the past 33 years, was killed outright; Roy Sadtler, 9, a nephew, died later as the result of injuries, his wife, Mrs. James Sadtler and a six-year-old niece, Lucille, are in Aultman hospital here as the result of their automobile, being struck by a Wheeling and Lake Erie train at Beach City near here late yesterday. The auto was hurled against a freight train standing near the crossing and the victims were crushed between the two trains. Dominick Betvyldere, 21, was killed last night when the rear end of an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a Northern Ohio traction car on the Canton-Massillon road.

PROBE DEATH OF BOXER IN FIGHT IN MICHIGAN

ALLIES INTERVENE TO END HOSTILITIES IN NEAR EAST WAR

Turk Forces Menacing Smyrna, Seat of Greek Headquarters

London, Sept. 5.—With the Turks still pressing forward on the Anatolian battle front, driving the Greeks before them the allied powers intervened today in an effort to end hostilities. Great Britain, France and Italy are exchanging diplomatic views with the object of arranging an armistice and it is possible that the question of near east peace will play an important part in the deliberation at the league of nations meeting at Geneva. The Turks are menacing Smyrna, sea, of Greek great headquarters on the coast and indications today were that the Greeks will be forced out of Asia Minor entirely within another week unless hostilities end. The Greek military authorities are already preparing for complete evacuation while the Athens government, is appealing to the allied powers for assistance on the ground that their departure would leave the way open for wide spread massacre of Greek Christians.

BIG CROWD HEARS CANDIDATES ATTACK LABOR INJUNCTION

Attorney General's Action Object of Criticism of Political Speakers

Cleveland, Sept. 5.—Nearly 30,000 persons participating in the annual labor day celebration of the Cleveland Federation of labor at Luna Park yesterday heard Democratic, Republican and Socialist candidates attack the injunction against the striking railway shopmen obtained by Attorney General Daugherty, and a considerable number of them signed petitions circulated demanding the recall of Mayor Fred Kohler. A near clash resulted from the circulation of the petitions when Brig. General Charles X. Zimmerman, general manager of the park, objected to the manner in which they were circulated on the ground that it made them appear official. Secretary John G. Owens, of the federation, ordered the clipboards put away, but claimed to have between 12,000 and 15,000 signatures previously. Col. Carmi A. Thompson, Republican candidate for governor, reviewed his labor record, told of working in the mines of West Virginia and asserted his father had been a labor organizer there.

IMPERIAL JAPANESE MARRIAGE TO COST MORE THAN $2,000,000

Miniature Sword, 12 Inches Long To Be Symbol of Betrothal of Prince Regent Hirohito and Princess Negakokuni.

Tokio, Sept. 5.—A miniature sword, just 12 inches long, will be the symbol of betrothal of the prince regent Hirohito of Japan, and the princess Negakokuni, whose marriage will take place later in the autumn. It will be presented by the prince regent to the princess in a fortnight. Word was received today from Osaka that the gift insignia of love and war has been completed by a famous swordsmith in that city and is ready for delivery. The sword is laquered and beautifully decorated with the imperial crest, a sixteen petaled gold chrisanthemum. It is sheathed in crimson brocade. The betrothal ceremonies were to have taken place several weeks ago but were postponed on account of the death of Prince Higashi Fushimi. While it is announced that the wedding will be characterized by "extreme simplicity" it is estimated that the imperial marriage will cost about $2,500,000 including the money expended for repairs upon Kasumigaseki palace, the prince regent's Tokyo residence. This total also includes the cost of the prince regent's tour of the imperial shrines. The bride's tresson and accessories will cost more than $500,000. The betrothal sword will be only the first gift from the prince to his fiancée. Others will follow. Gifts valued at millions of dollars will come from all countries especially from the ruling European families. Princess Nagakokuni's tresson will include dresses in foreign and Japanese styles—ranging from Paris creations to the Japanese kimono effect—for use in every season of the year. Her ceremonial dresses are being completed at Kyoto, at a cost of about $10,000. The princess' crown and necklace will cost nearly half a million dollars.

REBELS AGAINST MUSIC PATRONS

There will be many receptions and banquets, chief of which will be given by the prince regent, where 3,000 persons, including foreign diplomats and visiting dignitaries will be given an opportunity to extend their congratulations in person. Princess Nagakokuni—the future empress of Japan—was born in Tokio in 1903. Her father, Prince Kuni, departed for the Manchurian front to fight the Russians before his daughter was one year old and was absent two years. She was educated for the life of a Japanese lady of culture but voluntarily broadened her own educational activities to include the use of the typewriter and the kodak. She is an accomplished musician and painter and is fond of out door life, and especially gardening. Hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the country dealing with strike conditions and minor violations of the Chicago injunction were upon Daugherty's desk when he returned. It is not probable, however, that any of these will furnish the basis for drastic action prior to Monday's court battle. Daugherty's aides have been busy collecting reports on strike conditions, which will be used by the attorney general on Monday when he appears before Judge Wilkerson to argue that the most drastic restraining order ever issued in an industrial dispute be made permanent. So far as labor's attitude went, spokesmen for the striking shopmen asserted that the union leaders would quietly pursue their policy of making the strike effective, regardless of the injunction. It was evident however, that for the most part of the labor leaders concerned will pursue their courses without any tooting of horns. Service of the temporary restraining order not yet been made on majority of the defendants named today, according to information on hand at the department of justice. The weekend and the holiday together had acted for delay, it was said, but today and tomorrow should see service up on practically all those named. Congress came back to Washington today also, but its activities will be confined to the senate's efforts at passage of the coal distribution and profiteering legislation requested by President Harding.

Miss Rosemary Pfaff, eight-year-old singer, rebelled when she said, two of her rich Chicago patronesses—Mrs. Archibald H. Freer and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick—became too patronizing and dictatorial.

Sensational Paternity Case In Indiana Reaches Courts

Harry Poulin, Well Known South Bend Merchant, Given Preliminary Hearing On Complaint of Prof. John P. Tiernan, of Notre Dame University.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 5.—The sensational case brought by Professor John P. Tiernan, instructor in law at Notre Dame University, against Harry Poulin, well known merchant, with the paternity of a child born last November to Mrs. Tiernan will reach the courts today.

Poulin will have a preliminary hearing before A. W. Hosinski, in justice court at which it was believed a plea of not guilty will be formally entered and date for trial set.

Poulin, who was released on $2,000 bail Sunday, following his arrest passed yesterday with his wife and two children and was host at a big party which had been arranged in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Poulin's fifteenth wedding anniversary.

It was expected that Prof. Tiernan would appear in court with the affidavit signed by his wife in which the details of her associations with Poulin are revealed. Mrs. Tiernan is in a state of nervous collapse, is under care of a physician and will not appear in court, it was stated.

Poulin in the face of the serious charges, continued to assert his innocence and declared the charge was the last stage of a blackmail plot which began shortly before the birth of the child.

"All the details of Tiernan's accusations were told by me to my wife long ago," he said. "She has faith in me and is standing loyally beside me and will defend me against the world."

Washington, Sept. 5.—The government does not intend to enforce the drastic Daugherty injunction against the striking railroad shopmen to the point of abridgment of free speech and lawful and peaceful assemblage it was officially announced at the White House this afternoon.

Standing on the rostrum at a strikers meeting forbidden under the terms of the injunction granted Friday in Chicago by Federal Judge Wilkerson, Johnston dubbed the writ a "big noise" and declared he proposed to stand on his "inalienable constitutional rights."

Washington, Sept. 5.—To all outward appearances, the industrial warfare precipitated by the drastic Daugherty injunction had settled down today to a period of "watchful waiting" on the part of both the government and organized labor, pending the outcome of next Monday's court action as to the permanency of the far reaching injunction.

Government officials generally breathed sighs of relief today that Labor Day passed without developing any untoward incidents that might put the government's hand. While steadfast in asserting that the Daugherty injunction will be enforced to the letter, officials were just as well pleased that the "enforcement" called for no spectacular display on a day that is peculiarly labor's.

Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty returned to Washington today to attend the regular meeting of the cabinet, as did the rest of the absentee members of the president's official family.

Hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the country dealing with strike conditions and minor violations of the Chicago injunction were upon Daugherty's desk when he returned. It is not probable, however, that any of these will furnish the basis for drastic action prior to Monday's court battle.

LARGE FORCE NOW AT WORK MOVING DAMAGED SISAL

In spite of the fact that a large crowd of workmen was being employed by the Hoover and Allison ever since Sunday in removing baled sisal and manila from the warehouse in which fire broke out early Sunday morning, only about one-half of the raw material in that building so far has been moved, it was said by a company official Tuesday.

The company is attempting to move the water and fire damaged raw material from the building to spread it in fields connected with the company property to dry, but has not yet started on that raw material stored in the warehouses adjoining the one which housed the fire, on the east and west, and in which baled raw material on the bottom of the piles, was soaked by the water thrown to extinguish the blaze.

Officials are still attempting to get all of the material out before Wednesday evening or Thursday morning when the insurance adjusters are expected to arrive. In the meantime it is impossible for the company to estimate its loss an official said Tuesday.

SEEK MEANS TO ASSURE PUBLIC ON COAL PRICE

Social Session to Convene Monday, September 11, On Call of Governor

TO INVOKE POWERS

To Checkmate Attempts to Profiteer In Coal In This State

Columbus, Sept. 5.—Governor Davis announced today at noon that he would call the two houses of the state legislature to Columbus on Monday, Sept. 11, for a special session for the direct purpose of "enacting legislation that will make it possible to invoke the state's full powers in assuring to the public a sufficient supply of fuel at a fair price."

"We intend to use every means that is legally available," Governor Davis declared, in announcing the intended special session, "to obviate the threatened taking advantage by some coal interests of the people of the state by charging them all the market will bear, for their fuel needs. I have asked the attorney general to prepare legislation along lines I have suggested which when enacted, will make it possible to control rigidly the prices of coal, and to stop in the inception any attempt at profiteering."

Gov. Davis declared that the form of this proposed legislation would be announced later.

"I am still very hopeful that the mere enactment of these contemplated laws will alone be sufficient to deter these coal operators in Ohio who have indicated an unwillingness to keep their prices within what must be considered a reasonable bounds, from charging exorbitantly for their product," the governor declared.

"I have good reason to believe," he added, "that some producers have never intended to exact more than a fair price."

"However, if necessary, the new laws so proposed to be enacted will be enforced with all the means of the state government," was the promise and warning given by Gov. Davis in his announcement.

"Whether this be brought about through the moral force of the proposed laws, the sense of right of coal producers to treat consumers fairly, or through actual calling into play of the full force of law, it is determined that the public must, and will be protected at all hazards against any attempted gouging."

"We propose, if the exigency demands it, to use the police powers for the seizure of coal in transit in Ohio, to divert it to the use of the people of the state, should there be any attempt to discriminate against the public as a result of the measures to be called into action to compel a fair price."

"I am trusting, however, that the exercise of these extreme steps will not prove needful," the governor continued.

Gov. Davis' announcement followed close on the heels of Attorney General Price's ruling, that the governor had the power to act through the nearly forgotten conservation amendment of the 1912 state constitution which declares that "laws may be passed to provide for the regulation of methods of mining, weighing, measuring and marketing coal, oil, gas and all other minerals."

Blows to the stomach and to the heart, according to physicians, caused death.

CITY MARKET NOW HAS NEW OWNER

The City Market, local meat business on East Main Street, has been opened under new management, the entire business being taken over by Harry Derrick, of the Cloverleaf Delicatessen, and is now open conducted under a new plan of management.

The new owner of the business is announcing to Xenia and Greene County people the installation of new equipment, where fresh home-killed meat will be sold.

AMERICA SENDS MANY FARMERS TO SOVIET RUSSIA

Moscow, Sept. 5.—More than 500 American farmers will be in Russia by the end of the Summer, settled permanently on the land. Two hundred and eighty-four already have arrived. Negotiations are underway with the representative of 10,000 farmers and if these are successful there will be a great exodus from California of the Malakans a group of Tolstoyan peasants who fled from Russia in the days of the Czar and now want to return.

"Russia will only accept as immigrants persons who are equipped to make a success here," said the young man in charge of Trade Immigration to me. "We have thirty-five thousand American workers registered with the Society for Technical Aid to Russia in New York who want to come here, but most of them cannot yet be received. The American skilled worker is usually a specialist, not an all-round mechanic and we have not the machinery of mass production to enable him to succeed here."

"Only organized groups which can bring their own tools of success with them are at present allowed to come to Russia. It is harder for the industrial worker to bring a factory than it is for a farming group to bring farming machinery. So at present we are taking largely farmers."

"We won't take individual farmers, however. Conditions of village life are too hard for individual farmers to make their way. But farming communities, bringing their own machinery for them Russia offers a chance of a better living than they get in the United States."

"We give them large estates of the best black soil in the world. They sell out their American land, buy machinery and come over in good shape to make a success."

"How do they choose their land?" I asked.

"They send first a representative to us here. He goes, for instance, to the Land Department of the Ukraine which sends him out to the various county agents. Usually it only takes a week or two and he only needs to look at one or two places."

"He makes complete inventory of buildings, equipment and location of streams. Then he sends word to America what things are needed—water pipes, plumbing, small electric power plant, machinery, etc."

"The farmers buy the equipment in America; their agent signs the contract with us here. Their goods come in duty free."

"What kind of a contract do they get?" I asked.

"He drew out a contract. The colonists were given the land and buildings and contracted to establish a sound farm and pay a return yearly of 10 per cent of their grain crop and 8 per cent of their hay. For the first three years this payment was not demanded but must be put into improving the farm."

"The colonists must insure the buildings and had no right to give the land to others ut in case they failed to handle it they must return it, all or part, to the Land Department. If they hired peasants to work for them they must do so in accordance with the Union of Agricultural Workers."

For eighteen years they had the land on these terms and at the end of that time they had first option on renewal, subject to any new land laws that might have arisen in the meantime. The land which they got in this way was the rich black earth of the Ukraine.

SAYS CIVILIZATION IS NOW ALL WRONG

London, Sept. 5.—Modern civilization, which has been Americanized, is all wrong! You can take this from C. R. W. Nevinston, the brilliant young English artist.

English people care more for limousines and hot baths than they do for art, Nevinston believes, and he is more or less peeved by that desire for luxury which permits the wealthy public to spurn the painted product of the artist, in favor of the wares of the automobile salesman.

Nevinston says his net profits from art for the past four years have been but $300 a year. He even tried an art exhibition in America and lost $4,500 on that venture.

It's the "monstrously material" civilization of today that is holding British art back, Nevinston declares.

"I have managed since 1910, after a stern course of privation, to keep body and soul together as a professional artist by the simple expedient of always putting away seventy-five per cent of everything I earn and stretching credit to the most fantastic lengths, never paying any kind of a bill till it goes to the most vivid of scarlets, because one receives little attention and no credit from tradespeople if one pays bills promptly," Nevinston declares.

"Artists should avoid Paris, because it is easier to get credit in New York."

"I have just enough money to last me another six months; and, as this Americanized civilization prefers an artist dead, I consider it my duty at least, to die handsomely in debt."

SOCIAL CLIMBER PUTS PHOTO OF SOCIETY LEADER IN INCONSPICUOUS PLACE! NAOMI NEWGILT SAYS THEY REALLY DON'T KNOW HER VERY WELL

Wonderful Grace and Dignity Mark The New Fall Gowns

Dignity and flowing grace of line are superseding the ingenuitous fashions of the recent period. The lengthened skirts, the richness of material, and the slim straight silhouette all proclaim a new regime in the fashion world.

Loose panels that reach below the bottom of the skirt and carry out the idea of the uneven hem line, are distinct features of the season's modes. Sleeves very full below the elbow and tight at the wrist, or sleeves that are close down to the elbow and then trail off into long, flowing draperies, sometimes finished with a large tassel, are conspicuous innovations.

AS TO TRIMMINGS

One tone frocks with self trims are extremely popular.

Timmings are for the most part in the form of vivid dashes of color in beading, braiding or novel ornaments.

Wonderful Grace and Dignity Mark The New Fall Gowns

Dignity and flowing grace of line are superseding the ingenuitous fashions of the recent period. The lengthened skirts, the richness of material, and the slim straight silhouette all proclaim a new regime in the fashion world.

Loose panels that reach below the bottom of the skirt and carry out the idea of the uneven hem line, are distinct features of the season's modes. Sleeves very full below the elbow and tight at the wrist, or sleeves that are close down to the elbow and then trail off into long, flowing draperies, sometimes finished with a large tassel, are conspicuous innovations.

AS TO TRIMMINGS

One tone frocks with self trims are extremely popular.

Trimmings are for the most part in the form of vivid dashes of color in beading, braiding or novel ornaments.

THE FAVORED COLORS

Black, navy and various shades of brown, of which Hindu is the most popular, are favored colors. A rich new blue, called Hawaiian, is also meeting with enthusiastic approval.

THE MATERIALS

Poirot twills, tricelines, and an occasional wool check, of the sport type, are preferred street materials, while Canton crepe, either dull finish or satin back, and crepe Romaine, hold supremacy in dressier gowns.

MODERN ELECTRICAL INDUSTRY IS FORTY YEARS OLD.

Forty years ago—at three o'clock in the afternoon of September 4, 1882—the modern electrical industry was born.

On that date, the first central generating station went into operation. The scene was the station of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, at 257 Pearl Street, New York City.

When Thomas A. Edison gave the signal that afternoon 40 years ago, six generators, each with a capacity of 125 horsepower, and popularly known as "Jumbos," sent forth current along underground lines for a total length of 13 miles.

That day might well have been called the emancipation day for manual labor and women's household drudgery. Electricity was sent into factories and industrial plants where it was soon to turn all kinds of machinery that formerly required manual labor or other forms of energy for operation.

Within relatively a few years, electricity began to take the backaches out of household work, and now is being used to operate washing machines, vacuum cleaners, irons, and scores of other labor-saving devices.

The birth of the central station industry marked the beginning of rapid growth of large cities, making possible as it did swift transportation in urban communities.

There had been plenty of toil and difficulty before that triumphal turning on of electricity on September 4, 1882. There had been years of experiment and preparation. Nor did the years of toil, difficulty and experimentation end on that date. All these have been important factors in the marvellous development of the industry since then.

Lack of experienced workmen was a great handicap at the outset. A night school was opened to give instruction in engineering problems. In the same building, the general public was informed of the advantages of the new lighting system. Those in charge had to answer such questions as "Don't you use any matches?" "Won't it explode?" and "Is it safe in a thunder storm?"

To those familiar with the tremendous present-day development of the electrical industry the marvellous rapidity of growth in the short space of 40 years will serve mainly as an indication of the future possibilities of the industry.

LIFE'S CHOICES.

The course of life is a series of electives. What we are now, what we do now, is determined largely by a decision to go to the right or to the left years ago.

A young person who takes life seriously feels that the choice of a vocation makes a big difference, and it does. But it does not follow that the first choice offers the final hope of success. A great many choose and change and are successful. Life that gives us a range of choices also gives us repeated chances. He who has chosen wrong and gone wrong may choose again and go right.

Yet every determination of the past leaves in some degree its indelible impress on our present. The man who repeatedly has been kind and generous has established a habit not likely to be shattered; the man whose thoughts and acts were consistently evil is liable to continue as he always has chosen to do and to be.

As we review our own careers we think we see what fools we were now and then, and we would give anything if we could travel back over the years to that spot where once we halted and considered at the divergence of the ways. Wise after the event, we recognize now, and too late, the irredeemable folly. Very often that folly is one of mistaking. An infatuation led to the impulsive error, which has made the time since then a period of penance and repentance.

A man sits in his prison cell and wonders how he came there. It is not the man he is now who put him behind the bars; it is a man he abhors and repudiates, one who long ago betrayed and undid him, when the evil side of our common human nature rose up suddenly and overcame the good. It took two minutes to do the wrong thing; it has taken ten years for the expiration. Why? He asks the riddle of his own universe and has no answer. All he knows is he made a mistake. He cannot retrace the false step. But he need not take the same step again. He can go the other way after this, and a right kind of penal system will fortify him in the purpose of so doing.

The quietest of lives cannot wholly escape decisions whereon a great deal depends. A human being goes neither right nor wrong alone; he inspires or disheartens others whom he may never know; he lifts up or he drags down when he is unaware. No biographer can tell, in the case of a great, good man, the most valuable result of such a life in the lives remote or near that he has quickened to be better than they were; as none can estimate, for a bad man, the subtle poison that he left behind to creep in the veins of those that shall come after him. When a man decides what sort of life he is to lead, posterity is concerned, and the world is better or worse for the choice he makes.

PROTECTION NEEDED NOW MORE THAN EVER.

The free traders' and importers' agents are emitting a vast amount of piffle to the effect that this is no time to revise the tariff, with world economic conditions in so disturbed a state and with such uncertainty as to industrial conditions throughout the world in the immediate future.

The American producer cannot compete on equal terms with the German, Austrian, French, English, Italian, Japanese or Chinese producer so long as the wages paid in these industrial nations are from one-half to one-tenth those in effect in the United States.

This competition is vastly more dangerous than ever before because, on account of currency depreciation, the alien employing producer has an advantage over the American employing producer far beyond that possible under normal exchange conditions.

This situation makes necessary a higher tariff than ever before, if it is to be genuinely protective. The yawpers about "extortionate and unconscionable rates," most of whom couldn't name a rate in the pending tariff bill if they tried, would not be making an effective argument against the tariff bill of 1922 if they were able to prove that it is the highest tariff ever proposed—which they cannot do. There never before was anything like the present necessity for high tariff rates.

The people of this country must do one of two things: they must put into effect a thoroughly effective protective tariff or we must go out of business as a great wealth producing nation. Time will show that the principal weakness of the new tariff law will be more on the side of failing to give adequate protection than on the side of excessive rates.

GREAT GAME! WHO'S AHEAD?

CLOSE TO NATURE.

I landed on a South Sea isle on which I planned to live; for I was sick of worldly guile, and all that cities give. Oh, I was tired of routine ruts, of labor's smarts and stings, and I would live on cocoanuts and drink from gushing springs. For I had read a thousand books concerning South Sea isles, of dusky belles in sylvan nooks, who cheer men with their smiles. I longed to dwell by babbling rills where summer moonbeams lurk, where people do not pay their bills, and no one needs to work. And for a week I languished there, from clanging marts afar, without a table or a chair, a book or a cigar. Then I addressed the dusky belle who had become my bride: "This sort of life may suit you well—to me it's suicide. So I will say farewell, my lass, and sail across the seas, and leave you squatting in the grass, among the bugs and fleas. Some other gent will come, no doubt, and take you for his wife, some broken and world weary scout who'd lead a quiet life. But I to some more rugged scene must haste to leave my tracks, where I can smell the gasoline, and pay an income tax. I know these woods have lovely tints, the scenery's sublime, but I must read the public prints, and note the wave of crime. So fare thee well, oh, greasy Grace, don't murmur or repine; for if I ne'er shall see your face, you're spared the sight of mine."

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

LOOK AT LIFE IN A BIG WAY. Some people merely live in an apartment, or a house—or a town. There are others, however, who live in a world, and they see and think in the terms of this world. Only as we measure all questions in terms of the whole are we able to come justly to the right conclusions. If you look at things in a big way, small conclusions will have no place in your mental make-up. And it is the small conclusions that people come to that keep them narrow and bigoted. Life is a spread-out affair. It embraces an Earth with a great history. The farther we get from our own viewpoints and learn to compound the viewpoints of others from all points of the earth, the better are we able to appreciate the spiritual and moral worth of those nearest to us. "It is a serious business to start a soul voyaging toward Eternity," said a noted speaker to whom I listened when a boy, and I have never forgotten this line and how the speaker spoke of it. It made a great impression on me at the time, and as I think of it now I am still more impressed with its vast meaning. Responsibility is what makes any man or woman. The greater the responsibility the greater the one who carries it. You can easily recognize a great man by the way he handles responsibility. The point is that he actually HANDLES it. Others load it with worry and thus break down all possibility of its handling. And with greater vision comes a firmer grasp on all affairs, a keener insight into heretofore hidden meanings, and a calmer attitude toward all misfortunes and unforeseen calamities. Look at life in a big way. If you consider yourself a mere worm, you'll be one all right. And people will have no thought otherwise than to step on you. But if you think and act big, they will follow you and be inspired by your example and power.

The only comfort I can offer your friend is to tell her that she has passed through the worst period and, from now on, her hair will look more natural each week. The only other thing to do is to dye it to the natural shade. But that is not advisable.

Irene:—A curling fluid is made by dissolving gum tragacanth in hot water, so it will be the consistency of a thin mulligan. Dampen hair with this before you form it into the waves. The hair should be bound so it will dry without disturbing the curls or waves after which it can be combed out and shaken to throw off the dried particles from the glue. Hair done this way will often stay curled for several days.

New York, Sept. 5.—American relief administration forces have practically conquered the cholera epidemic in the Samara district of Soviet Russia, according to cabled advice received at headquarters here.

Sayre, Pa., Sept. 5.—Two men, Clyde Phoenix and Phelix Fuller, both of Nixon, Pa., employed at the Lehigh Valley roundhouse, are dead as the result of the explosion of the boiler on a locomotive, yesterday.

Two negroes were badly scalded but will probably recover. Lack of water in the boiler of the locomotive is given as the cause of the explosion. It became dry and cold water was turned into it.

Dr. A. B. Lyons, coroner of Bradford County, will conduct an investigation.

USED BY THREE GENERATIONS "I use Foley's Honey and Tar personally, give it to all my children and now to my grandchildren with the same good results. I tried many kinds of cough medicines, but never want anything but Foley's Honey and Tar," writes Mrs. E. K. Olson, Superior, Wis. Foley's Honey and Tar was established in 1875 and has stood the test of time serving three generations. It quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup, throat, chest and bronchial trouble. SAYRE & HEMPHILL

CLOSE TO NATURE.

I landed on a South Sea isle on which I planned to live; for I was sick of worldly guile, and all that cities give. Oh, I was tired of routine ruts, of labor's smarts and stings, and I would live on cocoanuts and drink from gushing springs. For I had read a thousand books concerning South Sea isles, of dusky belles in sylvan nooks, who cheer men with their smiles. I longed to dwell by babbling rills where summer moonbeams lurk, where people do not pay their bills, and no one needs to work. And for a week I languished there, from clanging marts afar, without a table or a chair, a book or a cigar. Then I addressed the dusky belle who had become my bride: "This sort of life may suit you well—to me it's suicide. So I will say farewell, my lass, and sail across the seas, and leave you squatting in the grass, among the bugs and fleas. Some other gent will come, no doubt, and take you for his wife, some broken and world weary scout who'd lead a quiet life. But I to some more rugged scene must haste to leave my tracks, where I can smell the gasoline, and pay an income tax. I know these woods have lovely tints, the scenery's sublime, but I must read the public prints, and note the wave of crime. So fare thee well, oh, greasy Grace, don't murmur or repine; for if I ne'er shall see your face, you're spared the sight of mine."

Today's Talk by George Matthew Adams

LOOK AT LIFE IN A BIG WAY. Some people merely live in an apartment, or a house—or a town. There are others, however, who live in a world, and they see and think in the terms of this world. Only as we measure all questions in terms of the whole are we able to come justly to the right conclusions. If you look at things in a big way, small conclusions will have no place in your mental make-up. And it is the small conclusions that people come to that keep them narrow and bigoted. Life is a spread-out affair. It embodies an Earth with a great history. The farther we get from our own viewpoints and learn to compound the viewpoints of others from all points of the earth, the better are we able to appreciate the spiritual and moral worth of those nearest to us. "It is a serious business to start a soul voyaging toward Eternity," said a noted speaker to whom I listened when a boy, and I have never forgotten this line and how the speaker spoke of it. It made a great impression on me at the time, and as I think of it now I am still more impressed with its vast meaning. Responsibility is what makes any man or woman. The greater the responsibility the greater the one who carries it. You can easily recognize a great man by the way he handles responsibility. The point is that he actually HANDLES it. Others load it with worry and thus break down all possibility of its handling. And with greater vision comes a firmer grasp on all affairs, a keener insight into heretofore hidden meanings, and a calmer attitude toward all misfortunes and unforeseen calamities. Look at life in a big way. If you consider yourself a mere worm, you'll be one all right. And people will have no thought otherwise than to step on you. But if you think and act big, they will follow you and be inspired by your example and power.

CROWDS JAM STREETS OF NEW BURLINGTON MONDAY FOR THE VILLAGE HOME COMING

Never before did such a crowd jam the streets of New Burlington, as on the occasion of the village Labor Day. The quiet peaceful village was thronged with townspeople, the crowd during the day being increased by hundreds of former residents and people from over the entire countryside who went to the village to attend the annual get-together affair and meet old friends.

Traffic was at a standstill during the entire day, caused by merry groups of people, stopping to chat and review past acquaintances. Residents of the community sum the day's events as "a howling success," the attendance, and series of events of the day surpassing any previous occasion in the history of the village.

The program of sports during the day began at one o'clock, when the crowds began to form through the village streets. The first of the events was a band concert at one o'clock which lasted for a short time, followed by a potato race for girls, won by Miss Dorothy Connard, who was presented a school outfit, donated by William Blair.

The remaining events in their order, with the winners and prizes were as follows: three-legged race for boys, won by Carl Connard, and Robert Smith, a haircure, each, donated by the village barber, Ladies' ball throwing contest, Miss Bessie Shadker, roast of beer donated by B. H. Miller; girls' running race, Dorothy Connard, hair ribbon; boys' running race, Edward Stanley, ball glove, donated by W. C. Smith; ladies' needle threading contest, Mrs. Lester Stanfield, 50 post cards, donated by James Connard; men's horseshoe tournament, three prizes, first, box of cigars, T. C. Haddock, second, Goodyear tube, J. L. Compton and pocket knife, R. D. Collett, rifle match, first prize, Goodyear Tube, Chenoweth and Robinson, second, spark plug, Chas. Robinson; and third, ten pounds of sugar, William Blair.

A ball game was the feature staged at three o'clock, when the village team met the Xenia Reds winning by a score of eight to two. The winning New Burlington team was presented a ball bat by W. C. Smith.

Little Miss Wilma Jean McKinney was presented the first prize for babies under one year, in the Baby Show a feature of the afternoon. The prize was one dollar donated by George Phillips. In the contest for babies from one to three little Miss Marjorie Hogan, was presented with a prize of a dollar donated by Dr. W. F. McCray.

The series of events closed with the last of the band concerts of the summer, given by the village band, staged at seven thirty.

Gay bunting hung from the buildings of the village lent, a festive appearance to the town for the occasion. The crowd that attended the home coming has been estimated at nearly two thousand.

Works as Waitress For Movie Job

Mrs. Russell Gaines Phillips is here shown as a waitress in a Hollywood, (Cal.) tearoom. The pretty society leader wanted to break into the moving picture game, so she went to Hollywood from Louisville, Ky., and in order to gain local color by meeting the screen people she took the restaurant job—and lasted two days, much, she says, was plenty.

ney Anderson, of Minnesota, arrived at the point of consideration at about the same time.

Both Anderson and Longworth are lawyers, as are 75 per cent of the members of Congress. The tall Minnesotan, however, is looked upon as an agricultural representative. He was chairman of the joint committee which conducted a far-reaching investigation into agricultural conditions and he has been a leader in the Agricultural Bloc.

Anderson is one of the younger men in the House. He will celebrate his fortieth birthday on September 17, and he is now in his twelfth year in the House, which means that he came down to Washington at the tender age of twenty-eight.

The agricultural element in the House, embracing mid-West and far-West representatives, will make a strenuous effort to have the lanky Minnesotan the leader of the next House. It is considered doubtful however, if they can muster the votes to put him across.

"Nick" Longworth has eighteen years of Congress behind him. He is fifty-two years old and has been in Congress continually since the Forty eighth except for two years. He lost out in the Democratic sweep that carried Woodrow Wilson into Presidency in 1912, but two years later he came back again and has been in Washington ever since.

Longworth has been one of the small band of men that directed the destinies of the present House. He is a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee.

It is said of Longworth that there is no more able parliamentarian or legislative strategist in Congress. To these abilities he adds an acquaintance ship that few men in Congress possess.

The industrial East is expected to combat the agricultural West for the leadership of the next House.

MAN TO MAN CONTEST IN GOLF TOURNAMENT TUESDAY FOLLOWING MONDAY'S WET EXHIBITION

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 5.—American golfers, having given an up-standing demonstration of the hold golf has on those who love and play the game, by completing the qualifying round yesterday through torrential downpour, continued today in the more interesting phase of the amateur championship—the man to man contest.

The 32 golfers who plunged ahead through the slough yesterday, started the first round of match play today under much more favorable weather conditions.

No championship ever gave so much promise of developing international favor as this one for there are five representatives of British golf among the survivors, three of these Tolley, Torrence and Aylmer were members of the British international team while Sammy Armour and Willie Hunter are strong if unofficial representatives of British golf. All of the first rank Americans qualified: Harrison B. Johnston, of St. Paul, the only one of the lot for whom some doubt was held, vindicated himself by doing a fine round of 74 yesterday and landed well within the chosen list.

The really great thing about the qualifying test was the record breaking round of Jesse Guilford, the present champion, who did a 70, through rain and bog, to take the medal away from the ever steady and brilliant Bobby Jones of Atlanta. Jones had turned in a total of 73-72-145 to nose out Chick Evans and Cyril Tolley who were tied with 148. Then along came Big Jess to take away Bobby's chance.

The draw follows: Top half: Jesse Sweetser, New York vs Harry Kenworthy, Providence; Willie Hunter, England, vs L. M. Lloyd, Greenwich; Jesse Guilford, Boston, vs Marcus Greer, Philadelphia; Reggie Lewis, New York vs J. A. Kennedy, Tulsa; Tommy Armour, Scotland vs Harrison Johnston, St. Paul; Parker Selly, New York vs Bob Gardner, Chicago; J. J. Beadle, Philadelphia vs Bobby Jones, Atlanta; William McPhail, Norfolk vs Carlton F. Wells, Barton Hills.

Indomitable Durant

It is said in automotive circles that W. C. Durant accomplishes what he plans; to him difficulties are so many spurs to greater effort, making one get on the faster.

He is the man who made the Buick. He conceived and organized General Motors, including Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oakland and Oldsmobile. Certainly a considerable monument to one man's tireless energy.

But now, when many men would be content to enjoy a well-earned vacation, he is up to the armpits in the business of launching the crowning effort of his career.

It's "just a real good car," Durant says. "If it's good enough for him to christen with his own name, it's good enough for us," said the trade, and in 141 working days after the announcement they contracted for $31,000,000 worth of Durant cars.

Efficient Housekeeping

ANSWERED LETTERS

Housewife: "Kindly publish recipes for Dill Pickles, Plain Cucumber Pickles and Apple Chutney."

Answer: Next Saturday (Sept. 9) I will publish the Apple Chutney recipe. But send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope for my two page multi-graphic set of pickle recipes ("Eight Popular Pickles," it is called) which contains the long recipes for Dill Pickles and Plain Cucumber Pickles.

Beginner: "I am learning to knit and would appreciate your publishing simple directions for a three-year-old child's Teddy Bear suit."

Answer: Directions for a three-year-old child's knitted suit, consisting of sweater, drawer-leggings and cap, were published in this paper last December 15 and 16 (1921). Buy a back copy of the paper for that date. On this coming Friday, however, (Sept. 8) I shall print, in this column, directions for such a Teddy Bear Suit for a child from one to two years old, giving the sweater-leggings directions this Friday, and the sweater and cap directions the following Friday, (Sept. 15th.) Many women enlarge such directions, so you might be able to also?

Bride Savings Bank Depositor: "I don't believe in using expensive things when reasonable things will answer as well, so I am coming to you for an inexpensive floor stain. Can you publish one?"

Answer: I enjoyed opening your letter. I wish all brides would be as wise as you. So many prefer luxuries to bank balances, not being willing to begin where their parents began, but wanting to start where their parents left off. I am glad to give you this cheap floor stain:

Permanenate of Potash Floor Stain: Dissolve two ounces of permanganate of potash in two quarts of boiling water. If too dark, add more water until the desired shade is obtained. Apply with a flat brush and let dry overnight, then rub with linseed oil or use plain varnish. This stain is also excellent for white willow furniture.

Young Bride: "I am only 17, but am enjoying my housekeeping. My husband is young too, and we have good times together. My cooking is fairly good, as I took a course in cooking. But what I want to know is this: Is there any special way to clean a room? What should I do first, and what next?"

Answer: I will publish tomorrow, for your help and for the help of other young housekeepers, an article on Cleaning Your Rooms the Right Way. Don't miss it. I am glad you are a good cook for that is so important.

Tomorrow—Cleaning Your Rooms the Right Way.

NICK LONGWORTH SCHEDULED TO TAKE HOUSE LEADERSHIP

Washington, Sept. 5.—Unless the fickle voter decrees otherwise in November, it is entirely probable that the sovereign State of Ohio, already possessed of the Presidency and a host of other political honors will add to its imposing array of Federal positions by taking over the Republican leadership of the Next House of Representatives.

"Nick" Longworth, of Cincinnati, veteran of nearly twenty years of service in Congress, is the man. The voters can spoil plans now in the making by turning control of Congress over to the Democrats in November, or by refusing to send the husband of Alice Roosevelt back to Washington. Both of these contingencies are considered remote.

Old Leaders Going. The leaders of the present congress are gone—or going. With the exception of Speaker Gillett, of Massachusetts; most of the other principal leaders of the Sixty-seventh Congress will be missing when the roll for the Sixty-eighth is called.

Mondell, of Wyoming, is running for the Senate; Fordney, of Michigan, is retiring of his own volition; Campbell, of Kansas, was licked in the primaries; Fess, of Ohio, is running for the Senate; Walsh, of Massachusetts, has taken a judgeship; "Uncle Joe" Cannon, of Illinois is voluntarily retiring after nearly half a century of intimate contact with the House. Others are likely to go in the primaries or in the Autumn.

The elimination of these elders has brought the question of Republican leadership in the Sixty-eighth congress sharply to the fore.

Longworth apparently stands in the direct line of succession, although he won't be elected without a fight. Sid-

"CAP" STUBBS—Cap Will Try to Make the Best of It!

NEW MILLIONAIRE IS FOUND AFTER LENGTHY SEARCH

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Sept. 5.—After a world wide search for William Sample, heir to a fortune estimated at $2,500,000 lasting for four months, the new millionaire was found on a steamship in the harbor of Bangkok, Siam, ready to sail to America for a visit to his home in southeast Missouri.

George Pind, of Cape Girardeau, has been conducting the search in order that he might turn over the vast fortune to its owner. The fortune was left to Sample by relatives who recently died.

As the news of the search for Sample found its way to every nook and corner of the globe, hundreds of "William Samples" applied to Pind for the money. When they would arrive at Cape Girardeau and find Pind, the latter would make them turn around and he would look at the back of their necks before making any statements.

Pind stated, after the rightful owner of the fortune was located, that the rightful heir had a scar on the back of his neck and that this mark would be the deciding factor in ascertaining the one William Sample for whom he was searching.

When he was found, Sample said he had been in Siam for a number of years and did not know of the search being conducted for him. He appeared to be greatly pleased with the news of his newly-acquired millions and could hardly wait until his boat left for America. He was found by an amateur detective who had been assigned to assist in locating Sample. The detective according to Pind, was paid $5,000 for his successful search.

A greater part of the legacy acquired by Sample is in a diamond mine in South Africa, it is claimed.

Indomitable Durant

It is said in automotive circles that W. C. Durant accomplishes what he plans; to him difficulties are so many spurs to greater effort, making one get on the faster.

He is the man who made the Buick. He conceived and organized General Motors, including Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oakland and Oldsmobile. Certainly a considerable monument to one man's tireless energy.

But now, when many men would be content to enjoy a well-earned vacation, he is up to the armpits in the business of launching the crowning effort of his career.

It's "just a real good car," Durant says. "If it's good enough for him to christen with his own name, it's good enough for us," said the trade, and in 141 working days after the announcement they contracted for $31,000,000 worth of Durant cars.

NEW MILLIONAIRE IS FOUND AFTER LENGTHY SEARCH

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Sept. 5.—After a world wide search for William Sample, heir to a fortune estimated at $2,500,000 lasting for four months, the new millionaire was found on a steamship in the harbor of Bangkok, Siam, ready to sail to America for a visit to his home in southeast Missouri.

George Pind, of Cape Girardeau, has been conducting the search in order that he might turn over the vast fortune to its owner. The fortune was left to Sample by relatives who recently died.

As the news of the search for Sample found its way to every nook and corner of the globe, hundreds of "William Samples" applied to Pind for the money. When they would arrive at Cape Girardeau and find Pind, the latter would make them turn around and he would look at the back of their necks before making any statements.

Pind stated, after the rightful owner of the fortune was located, that the rightful heir had a scar on the back of his neck and that this mark would be the deciding factor in ascertaining the one William Sample for whom he was searching.

When he was found, Sample said he had been in Siam for a number of years and did not know of the search being conducted for him. He appeared to be greatly pleased with the news of his newly-acquired millions and could hardly wait until his boat left for America. He was found by an amateur detective who had been assigned to assist in locating Sample. The detective according to Pind, was paid $5,000 for his successful search.

A greater part of the legacy acquired by Sample is in a diamond mine in South Africa, it is claimed.

RESCUES TWO CHILDREN FROM DROWNING WITHIN SPACE OF FEW MINUTES NEAR BRIDGEPORT MONDAY AFTERNOON

To a longing for small red peppers, two children, Josephine Steele, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Steele of the Stone road and Roger Lighthizer, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Lighthizer, 527 S. Monroe St., may owe their lives today.

Impelled by a desire to obtain some red peppers W. B. McCallister, 845 N. King St., former Greene County Sheriff, with Frank B. Hutchison, 411 W. Main St., went to the summer home of John Bocklet, on the Stone road, near Bridgeport, at Caesarscreek Monday afternoon, and there figured in dual rescue of both children from drowning within a space of only a few minutes apart.

Mr. McCallister was seated on the bank of the stream with Mr. Hutchison and Mr. Bocklet, watching the little Steele girl and little Dorothy Bocklet swim, when the attention of the watchers was first attracted by shouts of the Steele girl, who was being carried into swifter and deeper water. Although her position at the time was not considered precarious, it was thought that she needed assistance, and Mr. McCallister jumped into the water with his clothes on and assisted her to the shore. The child could swim, and with the aid of a pair of water wings was doing well until she felt that the current was getting the best of her, and became distressed. She was none the worse for her experience.

Shortly after the little girl was taken from the water, the little Lighthizer boy went in swimming.

FLIER IN TEXAS

San Antonio, Sept. 5.—Lieut. James H. Doolittle landed at Kelly Field, at 7:10 o'clock this morning in his cross country flight from Neptune Beach, Fla., to Rockwell Field, San Diego, Cal. He took off from Neptune Beach at 10:03 Monday night. His flying time was 10 hours and 7 minutes.

When he climbed from his plane he was greeted by the field band and his wife and mother. His mother arrived from California this morning. "I knew that Jimmy would do it," she said as her son gave her a big hug and kiss.

WOMAN IS RECOVERING

Columbus, Sept. 5.—Mrs. G. B. Arms, of Van Lear, Ky., is in a hospital here today recovering from injuries received when an automobile, driven by her husband, collided with another machine on High Street.

Swept from his feet by the strong current at the spot, he had rushed into deeper water, where he got beyond his depth and sank. Shouts for help reached the summer kitchen of the Bocklet home where Mr. McCallister had just completed removing his clothing so that they could be dried. When the second appeal came, he dashed from the building unclad and just reached the creek in time to save the youth.

The water where the children had been swimming was shallow riffles, but just below that the current was strong and the water 18 or 20 feet deep. It was into this deep water that the Lighthizer boy was swept by the strong current and he was just sinking for the third time when he was caught by the hair by Mr. McCallister and dragged from the water. Onlookers say that had his rescuer been ten feet farther from the scene, he would not have been saved. People present used methods of resuscitation, which freed the boy's lungs of the water he had drawn in, and he was perfectly well Tuesday. Overwrought by the two experiences however, the boy's mother, Mrs. Howard Lighthizer, was in a state of nervous shock ordering on hysterics Monday night and Tuesday. The boy's brother, Richard, also developed a high fever Tuesday which is believed partly the result of the nervous shock he suffered due to the near-drowning.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lighthizer and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lighthizer, who had been enjoying an outing at the scene taking advantage of the holiday. Mr. McCallister did not suffer from his two sudden plunges into the water. He is secretary of The Greene County Hardware Company and was at his work Wednesday morning.

RESCUES TWO CHILDREN FROM DROWNING WITHIN SPACE OF FEW MINUTES NEAR BRIDGEPORT MONDAY AFTERNOON

To a longing for small red peppers, two children, Josephine Steele, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Steele of the Stone road and Roger Lighthizer, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Lighthizer, 527 S. Monroe St., may owe their lives today.

Impelled by a desire to obtain some red peppers W. B. McCallister, 845 N. King St., former Greene County Sheriff, with Frank B. Hutchison, 411 W. Main St., went to the summer home of John Bocklet, on the Stone road, near Bridgeport, at Caesar Creek Monday afternoon, and there figured in dual rescue of both children from drowning within a space of only a few minutes apart.

Mr. McCallister was seated on the bank of the stream with Mr. Hutchison and Mr. Bocklet, watching the little Steele girl and little Dorothy Bocklet swim, when the attention of the watchers was first attracted by shouts of the Steele girl, who was being carried into swifter and deeper water. Although her position at the time was not considered precarious, it was thought that she needed assistance, and Mr. McCallister jumped into the water with his clothes on and assisted her to the shore. The child could swim, and with the aid of a pair of water wings was doing well until she felt that the current was getting the best of her and became distressed. She was none the worse for her experience.

Shortly after the little girl was taken from the water, the little Lighthizer boy went in swimming.

BRINGING UP FATHER

STRIKES CONDEMNED BY M. E. CONFERENCE NOW IN SESSION AT DAYTON ON MONDAY

The West Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at its closing sessions in Dayton Monday

She Is Mopper-Up of Bootleggers.

Miss Genevieve Hamilton, secretary to Prohibition Director Lyle, has a regulation office sponge, but it plays a more important part than the usual sponge. Prohibition officials don't drink. You know so the Federal agents must have evidence in the shape of hooch. Usually the law violators break the containers when their places are raided, so Miss Hamilton hops the bar and mops up some of the wasted liquor with her sponge and thus obtains evidence.

The conference, said: "Any group of men, either capitalists or laborers, who refuse to submit a mere financial question to governmental advice and assistance should be dealt with as enemies of industrial peace." The conference called a strike "a wasteful and fruitless proceeding" and went on record as condemning any thought on record or attempt to break the law, and especially that which has to do with the national prohibition amendment. Further, the ministers declared there was a wholesome need for the American voter to be emancipated from the "travesty of statesmanship falsely called partisan politics."

The conference spoke for the absolute freedom of the press, advocated wholesome amusements, condemned today's "wide-spread immorality practiced in the name of society," took issue with the Literary Digest's poll on the prohibition question, frowned upon divorce, said America was in far more danger from the "reds" than from the "blues," meaning the so-called blue laws, discouraged prize-fighting, deplored the use of narcotics and tobacco, especially by women, and laid down the gauntlet to the motion picture industry, which, it was declared, had "challenged the law, the church and the law-abiding citizens" in its desire to break down the statutes protecting the Sabbath.

These actions followed the report of the committee on reforms, of which Aaron S. Watkins, former prohibition candidate for president, acted as secretary. While the report was not adopted without considerable debate, the conference declined to go on record as condemning the Ku Klux Klan. An amendment to the committee motion, as follows, was then presented: "No organization of masked men whose aims are to deny equality to any class or race of American citizens should be encouraged by our people. The Ku Klux Klan as now constituted, while not entirely destitute of merit, is a menace to public peace, orderly government and religious tolerance." This amendment was the subject of much debate. Some said they had little actual knowledge of the Klan, others that the organization possessed some merit and a few ventured the suggestion that perhaps some of their own organization were members of the Klan. The proposed amendment was then tabled by a more than two-thirds vote.

GEORGE FALLON'S PLEASURE INTRIGUES NELLIE

Chapter 62

Miss Jones was at breakfast and Nellie felt more at home. She had spent the evening before getting settled, putting away her clothes and making the little room more home-like with photographs and some of the things she had kept because of their associations. The gay throw they had used on the couch in the apartment quite transformed the bed and the bright cushion made the rocking chair attractive as well as comfortable. Before she slept everything was in place. When Miss Jones dropped in to see how she was situated before going to breakfast, she exclaimed:

"How pretty! One would think you had been here months. Nellie's daintiness, as evidenced by her room, added to Miss Jones' fondness for the almost friendless girl whose beauty had at first seemed to the older more experienced employee a drawback.

"When we sold the things I kept a few so I wouldn't feel so homesick away from Cora," Nellie explained, pleased.

"You were wise. I have found that one's surroundings, unconsciously perhaps affect us wonderfully."

Mr. Horne, the newspaper reporter, was not at breakfast. Mrs. Roberts, noticing Nellie glance at his vacant place, told her:

"Mr. Horne is often out all night getting news for his paper. We seldom see him at breakfast."

A feeling of disappointment swept over Nellie. Aside from Mrs. Roberts, he had been the only one at the table who really interested her. But she made no remark and following Miss Jones' example, quickly ate her breakfast. They departed for the office together.

Nellie was thinking how nice it was to be with Miss Jones, to go to the office with her when she said:

"It is very nice to have company back and forth, my dear."

"I was just thinking the same," Nellie replied. "I'm a lucky girl to get a room where you are, even if it is more than I thought I ought to pay."

"It is better to do without some things and have the right kind of an environment—even if it is only a boarding house. Mrs. Roberts seems to have taken quite a notion to you. She is a darling old lady, has been very wealthy, and comes of a very old family. The others are all good respectable people, commonplace perhaps, but all right."

Nellie was tempted to ask about Mr. Horne, but something held her back. He was the only young man there, it might look silly if she talked of him. She was very anxious to stand in well with Miss Jones.

During the morning Mr. Fallon said:

"Miss Jones tells me you have taken a room at Miss Doty's. I am very glad. Not only because Miss Jones is there, but I feel more comfortable to know you are in such a good place."

Nellie at once forgot young Horne's

existence. Mr. George cared to have her in a nice place. He said he was more comfortable. How nice it was of him to care; to think of her at all aside from her work.

She lunched with Cora, and while she told of her new home, of the people she stressed Mr. Fallon's pleasure more than anything directly connected with her changed quarters or the people she had met. These she passed over lightly, mentioning Horne as she had the others. Mrs. Roberts was the only one she lauded:

"I watched her, Cora. And you should see how nice she eats, how dainty she is, and how she uses her fork. I am going to do just as she does. And she was so nice to me. Introduced me to the whole tableful of people and tried to make it easy for me. I was scared to death at first."

"I can't imagine you being frightened," Cora said, "but from what you tell me you are in the right place. I am glad that Mrs. Roberts seems interested in you." She did not add what was in her mind; that no one could help it, that Nellie's beauty her bright cleverness would win almost anyone.

Yet after she had returned to her little office and recalled the conversation she sighed at Nellie's pleasure over what Mr. George Fallon had said—her stressing his remarks.

"I haven't say a word for fear of making her conscious, but I'm afraid she is learning to care for him," she said to her half anxiously. Cora's own sad love affair, its sorrowful ending had made her very tender.

HINTON FAILS IN FIRST ATTEMPT TO TAKE OFF

Key West, Fla., Sept. 5.—Lieut. Walter Hinton failed in his first effort here this morning to resume his flight to Brazil. He hopped off at 8:50, but was forced to return to the air station here to lighten the load of his airplane. Another attempt was to be made at 10 o'clock.

London, Sept. 5.—Forty men were entombed by an explosion in a coal mine in Cumberlandshire today. It is feared that the loss of life will be heavy.

Ten bodies had been recovered within several hours.

GREEN ROOSTER PROVES TOO MUCH

Cincinnati, Sept. 5.—A bright green rooster with crimson comb and gills was presented to Sol Stephan, general manager of the Cincinnati zoo yesterday by a friend who told him the bird was an Irish cockerel from Kilkenny. Dire things happened when the skeptical Sol placed the gaudy chandler in a runaway with other birds and a little white peafowl was smitten with the flashy barnyard gallant and struck up a flirtation which infuriated her vain and jealous mate. The peacock engaged the emerald romeo in combat and was getting the worst of it when the other birds went to his aid and would have killed the rooster except for the interference.

Later in the day Stephan's friend confessed that he bought the Irish rooster at the orphan's feast held here on Sunday and that the freak bird was in reality a white leghorn whose feathers had been dyed by a woman grown expert in the use of colors.

BRINGING UP FATHER

STRIKES CONDEMNED BY M. E. CONFERENCE NOW IN SESSION AT DAYTON ON MONDAY

The West Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at its closing sessions in Dayton Monday

She Is Mopper-Up of Bootleggers.

Miss Genevieve Hamilton, secretary to Prohibition Director Lyle, has a regulation office sponge, but it plays a more important part than the usual sponge. Prohibition officials don't drink. You know so the Federal agents must have evidence in the shape of hooch. Usually the law violators break the containers when their places are raided, so Miss Hamilton hops the bar and mops up some of the wasted liquor with her sponge and thus obtains evidence.

went on record as condemning the present coal and railroad strikes, and declaring that the United States government still sits supreme and must continue to do so over the councils of labor or the confabs of capitalists.

The conference said: "Any group of men, either capitalists or laborers, who refuse to submit a mere financial question to governmental advice and assistance should be dealt with as enemies of industrial peace." The conference called a strike "a wasteful and fruitless proceeding" and went on record as condemning any thought about or attempt to break the law, and especially that which has to do with the national prohibition amendment. Further, the ministers declared there was a wholesome need for the American voter to be emancipated from the "travesty of statesmanship falsely called partisan politics."

The conference spoke for the absolute freedom of the press, advocated wholesome amusements, condemned today's "wide-spread immorality practiced in the name of society," took issue with the Literary Digest's poll on the prohibition question, frowned upon divorce, said America was in far more danger from the "reds" than from the "blues," meaning the so-called blue laws, discouraged prize-fighting, deplored the use of narcotics and tobacco, especially by women, and laid down the gauntlet to the motion picture industry, which, it was declared, had "challenged the law, the church and the law-abiding citizens" in its desire to break down the statutes protecting the Sabbath.

These actions followed the report of the committee on reforms, of which Aaron S. Watkins, former prohibition candidate for president, acted as secretary. While the report was not adopted without considerable debate, the conference declined to go on record as condemning the Ku Klux Klan. An amendment to the committee motion, as follows, was then presented: "No organization of masked men whose aims are to deny equality to any class or race of American citizens should be encouraged by our people. The Ku Klux Klan as now constituted, while not entirely destitute of merit, is a menace to public peace, orderly government and religious tolerance." This amendment was the subject of much debate. Some said they had little actual knowledge of the Klan, others that the organization possessed some merit and a few ventured the suggestion that perhaps some of their own organization were members of the Klan. The proposed amendment was then tabled by a more than two-thirds vote.

Key West, Fla., Sept. 5.—Lieut. Walter Hinton failed in his first effort here this morning to resume his flight to Brazil. He hoped off at 8:50, but was forced to return to the air station here to lighten the load of his airplane. Another attempt was to be made at 10 o'clock.

London, Sept. 5.—Forty men were entombed by an explosion in a coal mine in Cumberlandshire today. It is feared that the loss of life will be heavy.

Ten bodies had been recovered within several hours.

GREEN ROOSTER PROVES TOO MUCH

Cincinnati, Sept. 5.—A bright green rooster with crimson comb and gills was presented to Sol Stephan, general manager of the Cincinnati zoo yesterday by a friend who told him the bird was an Irish cockerel from Kilkenny. Dire things happened when the skeptical Sol placed the gaudy chandler in a runaway with other birds and a little white peafowl was smitten with the flashy barnyard gallant and struck up a flirtation which infuriated her vain and jealous mate. The peacock engaged the emerald rooster in comba and was getting the worst of it when the other birds went to his aid and would have killed the rooster except for the interference.

Later in the day Stephan's friend confessed that he bought the Irish rooster at the orphan's feast held here on Sunday and that the freak bird was in reality a white leghorn whose feathers had been dyed by a woman grown expert in the use of colors.

GEORGE FALLON'S PLEASURE INTRIGUES NELLIE

Chapter 62

Miss Jones was at breakfast and Nellie felt more at home. She had spent the evening before getting settled, putting away her clothes and making the little room more homelike with photographs and some of the things she had kept because of their associations. The gay throw they had used on the couch in the apartment quite transformed the bed and the bright cushion made the rocking chair attractive as well as comfortable. Before she slept everything was in place. When Miss Jones dropped in to see how she was situated before going to breakfast, she exclaimed:

"How pretty! One would think you had been here months. Nellie's daintiness, as evidenced by her room, added to Miss Jones' fondness for the almost friendless girl whose beauty had at first seemed to the older more experienced employee a drawback.

"When we sold the things I kept a few so I wouldn't feel so homesick away from Cora," Nellie explained, pleased.

"You were wise. I have found that one's surroundings, unconsciously perhaps affect us wonderfully."

Mr. Horne, the newspaper reporter, was not at breakfast. Mrs. Roberts, noticing Nellie glance at his vacant place, told her:

"Mr. Horne is often out all night

getting news for his paper. We seldom see him at breakfast."

A feeling of disappointment swept over Nellie. Aside from Mrs. Roberts, he had been the only one at the table who really interested her. But she made no remark and following Miss Jones' example, quickly ate her breakfast. They departed for the office together.

Nellie was thinking how nice it was to be with Miss Jones, to go to the office with her when she said:

"It is very nice to have company back and forth, my dear."

"I was just thinking the same," Nellie replied. "I'm a lucky girl to get a room where you are, even if it is more than I thought I ought to pay."

"It is better to do without some things and have the right kind of an environment—even if it is only a boarding house. Mrs. Roberts seems to have taken quite a notion to you. She is a darling old lady, has been very wealthy, and comes of a very old family. The others are all good respectable people, commonplace perhaps, but all right."

Nellie was tempted to ask about Mr. Horne, but something held her back. He was the only young man there, it might look silly if she talked of him. She was very anxious to stand in well with Miss Jones.

During the morning Mr. Fallon said:

"Miss Jones tells me you have taken a room at Miss Doty's. I am very glad. Not only because Miss Jones is there, but I feel more comfortable to know you are in such a good place."

Nellie at once forgot young Horne's

existence. Mr. George cared to have her in a nice place. He said he was more comfortable. How nice it was of him to care; to think of her at all aside from her work.

She lunched with Cora, and while she told of her new home, of the people she stressed Mr. Fallon's pleasure more than anything directly connected with her changed quarters or the people she had met. These she passed over lightly, mentioning Horne as she had the others. Mrs. Roberts was the only one she lauded:

"I watched her, Cora. And you should see how nice she eats, how dainty she is, and how she uses her fork. I am going to do just as she does. And she was so nice to me. Introduced me to the whole tableful of people and tried to make it easy for me. I was scared to death at first."

"I can't imagine you being frightened," Cora said, "but from what you tell me you are in the right place. I am glad that Mrs. Roberts seems interested in you." She did not add what was in her mind; that no one could help it, that Nellie's beauty, her bright cleverness would win almost anyone.

Yet after she had returned to her little office and recalled the conversation she sighed at Nellie's pleasure over what Mr. George Fallon had said—her stressing his remarks.

"I daren't say a word for fear of making her conscious, but I'm afraid she is learning to care for him," she said to her half anxiously. Cora's own sad love affair, its sorrowful ending, had made her very tender.

GREECE PREPARES FOR NEW WAR WHILE TURKS AND ALLIES MAKE PEACE

Thracian Army Reorganized—Volunteer Call is Quickly Answered—Peace Pact Pending as Greeks Object to Surrender of Eastern Thrace.

Athens, Oct. 5.—Greece is making preparations today for a new war. King George II issued a proclamation calling upon the people to support a conflict against the Turks in Thrace. Mobilization has been started.

The Greek revolutionary committee has called for volunteers. The Thracian army is being reorganized. It is reported that the recruiting offices are swamped with recruits.

A rumor was circulated here that the British had withdrawn from the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, but it was subsequently denied by the British legation.

General Nider who has been appointed commander in chief of the Greek army in Thrace, has been instructed to oppose any Turkish incursions but to consent to administration of the district by an allied commission "on condition such an administration is temporary."

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—Turkish nationalist cavalry appeared today at Kandra, on the Black Sea. This is the so called neutral zone established by the allies east of Constantinople. So far as known here there are no allied troops at Kandra.

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—Final agreement between the allies and Turks to avert war in Asia Minor was expected to be signed at Mudania this afternoon. The Turks already have accepted most of the terms imposed by the allies. The only cause for anxiety was the attitude of the Greeks who insist that they will go on war for the defense of Thrace.

The allies have promised eastern half of Thrace to the Turks despite the Greek opposition.

Without waiting for the arrival of the full Greek delegation the allied generals and Ismed Pasha drafted a six point agreement which included withdrawal from Thrace of the Greek army. When the Greeks arrived at Mudania they accepted five of the conditions but objected to the sixth which called for surrender of eastern Thrace.

With the neutral zone clear of Turkish troops all danger of a conflict between the Turks and British is considered past. It is generally believed now that the threat of a war in Asia Minor is averted. The only ominous cloud is the possibility of an attack by Greeks in Thrace. Italy and France are looking to Great Britain to bring such pressure upon Greece as will prevent such an attack. The suggestion is being made at Mudania that the near east peace conference be held at Scutaria instead of Venice.

PROPOSAL TO CANCEL DEBTS IS RIDICULOUS

Delegates to Vienna Conference Criticise Wall Street.

FRAME IN GOOD SHAPE

Contractors Mulling Franchise and Bills Are Given to Germany.

Washington, Oct. 5.—As long as France persists in her present military policy she need not expect any proposals for scaling down the allied war debt to be taken seriously in congress, it was declared today by Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas and other members of the congressional delegation to the recent inter-parliamentary conference at Vienna who have just returned from an extended tour of Europe.

Caraway and his associates joined with Senator Curtis, of Kansas, and other administration leaders of congress, in condemning "as ridiculous propaganda," the appeals voiced by Thomas W. Lamont, associates of J. P. Morgan and Thomas B. McAdams, president of the American Bankers Association, New York, Tuesday, for a partial cancellation of the foreign indebtedness of the United States.

"While it is not surprising that Mr. Lamont and his Wall Street interests should again be shedding tears over poor, bankrupt, Europe, and urging that we forgive our foreign debtors, it may be interesting to note that information reaching me from the most trustworthy financial sources shows that the international bankers, have already collected about $1,700,000,000 from Great Britain and France on money advanced privately to them alone during the world war," said Senator Heflin, Democrat, of Alabama.

"Why don't the private banking interests who are talking so loudly about a cancellation of public debts of Europe to the United States first announce that they have agreed to a cancellation of the private debts of European nations to them?"

"When one has the temerity to criticize France one is of course accused of being pro-German," Senator Caraway remarked. "But I was in France long enough to see with my own eyes and hear with my own ears what is taking place in that country. The reconstruction of the devastated regions of France is proceeding on a scale which is giving the French peasants expensive farm houses and other buildings of stone and steel—better homes than many of the farms of this country can afford. The French government by floating bonds is financing most of the reconstruction work, and then charging it against Germany."

According to information gathered at Paris by the congressional delegation the French for weeks before the Balfour note exploded among them like a bombshell, were acting on the assumption that President Harding would call a world economic conference this winter to discuss war debts and reparations. They have spent billions of francs on reconstruction in anticipation that Germany would pay eventually. Germany has not yet met the bill, France says she is unable to pay, Germany says she is. Senator Caraway and his associates are inclined to agree with Germany, having visited both countries and listened to both sides.

It is current knowledge at Paris that a number of favored French contractors and manufacturers have collected exorbitant sums from the French government for reconstruction work the pre war value of which was far less than the valuation claimed, according to the senators. Those excessive sums were charged against Germany. One of these cases is about to be prosecuted in the courts. A manufacturer will be charged with having fraudulently presented a bill for 13,000,000 franc on three damaged factories which he acquired before the war for 250,000 franc.

Senator Caraway said that when Germany first agreed to help in restoring the French devastated regions she furnished a number of portable structures at a cost to herself of 10,000 francs each. She was "billed" by the French government, however for 13,000 francs being compelled to pay an import duty of 3,000 francs on each building.

DARKNESS STOPS TEN INNING GAME WITH SCORE TIED 3 TO 3

Inning	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	R	H	E
Yanks	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	x	3	8	0
Giants	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	8	1

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 5.—With the games hopelessly knotted at three all in the tenth stanza, and with the New York Americans at bat and two out, the umpires stepped in and won today's game in the World's Series classic by calling the contest on account of darkness.

McGraw's team never scored after the first frame, when it piled up three hits for three runs. The Americans kept picking at the offerings of Jesse Barnes, one run at a time until they had knotted the count at three all, scoring one run each in the first, fourth and eighth. The calling of the game came as a surprise and the Americans never finished the inning.

The game will have to be played over and will add another game to the length of the series.

Those who had hoped for a come back on the part of Miller Huggins' athletes were doomed to disappointment, although he used his second pitching ace, Bob Shawkey, in an attempt to stop the heavy hitting and on-rushing National Leaguers.

To the surprise of the throng of 38,000 spectators that turned out for the game, the Giants stepped out and nearly sewed up the game in the first inning. Bancroft was thrown out at first by Ward, but Groh got his fifth hit of the series by singling to center.

SHARP LETTER IS SENT GOVERNMENT

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Smarting under a sense of injustice and outraged at the "futile chase" to Washington Attorney Donald R. Richberg chief counsel for the railroad shophmen in the government injunction proceedings today sent a tart letter to Solicitor General James M. Beck in which he flatly breaks off from any further conferences with representatives of the attorney general's office and asserts that he will demand legal redress for the alleged "unprecedented wrongs" done to the shophmen by the drastic restraining order.

Richberg in his statement to the court and in his letter demanded that the shophmen be given the legal right to have the injunction heard by three judges instead of suffering the injurious delay and excessive expense of an appeal to the circuit court of appeals. The letter to the solicitor general was filled with a bitterness and contained the blunt assertion that attorney general Daugherty was deliberately trying to force such legal measures as would long delay final action upon the sweeping injunctions and thus force the shophmen to ruinous legal expenditures.

Richberg's sharp letter was in reply to one delivered by the solicitor general to shophmen's counsel in Washington on behalf of the attorney general and which was read to Richberg over the long distance telephone last night.

ter. Frisch hit a Texas leaguer in left field, that fell between short, left and center. Groh stopping at second, E. Meusel then hit the ball into the left field bleachers for a home run scoring Groh and Frisch ahead of him.

The Yankees got one of these runs back in their half of the inning. Dugan was safe when Bancroft threw wild to get him and he took second on the play; Dugan took third on Ruth's sacrifice roller and he scored when Pipp's grounder took a bad bounce and hit Kelly in the shoulder going for a hit.

The Yankees scored their second run in the fourth inning when Ward hit the ball into the left field bleachers for a home run, after two were out.

Still picking at the offerings of Jesse Barnes the Yankees tied up the count in the eighth inning. After Dugan was tossed out by Barnes Ruth doubled to left and took third on Pipp's sacrifice fly to Cunningham. R. Meusel then doubled to left scoring Ruth with the tying run.

TWELVE WITNESSES CALLED IN CASE OF WOMAN PONZI

Another Arrest Features Astounding Case in Pomeroy, Ohio

Pomeroy, O., Oct. 5.—From twelve to fifteen witnesses will appear today before the Meigs County Grand Jury investigating the financial transactions of Mrs. Susan Kraus, 63, white haired alleged woman "Ponzi" according to a statement of L. Cracy Davis, Meigs County prosecutor as he entered the grand jury room today. "I expect to be able to make a statement later in the day," he announced. "We examined five witnesses yesterday in connection with this case. I issued the warrant for the arrest of M. A. Kraus, because I thought there was sufficient evidence to convict and it was in the line of my duty."

Meanwhile M. A. Kraus, whose arrest upon his arrival here yesterday from Cleveland furnished the latest sensation in this most astounding case, was the only one of the family to be free. "I feel sorry for my people who are in there, he said pointing to the jail, "while I walk the streets." He refused to comment upon his own arrest.

From other sources however it was learned that the amount of the note alleged to be forged was used for paying a check that Kraus had cashed for his mother. Mrs. Lin E. Hood, a widow, living at Kerks Run, told a pitiful story.

ARMY TRANSPORT PLANE ON TRIP ACROSS COUNTRY

Monoplane T-2 Hops Off From California Bound For East

TO BE A NON-STOP

Huge Craft Carries 725 Gallons of Gasoline for Trip.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 5.—Striking a fog bank near Fallbrook east of San Diego, Lieut. John MacReady and Oakley Kelly, who left here shortly before six o'clock this morning for a non-stop flight to New York City were forced to return within a few hours after their departure.

Upon their arrival back here a note was dropped from the plane stating they would stay aloft as long as possible and establish an endurance record if possible.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 5.—Cheered by 200 spectators the giant army transport monoplane T-2 hopped off at 5:36 a. m. this morning in an effort to make air history by a non-stop flight to New York.

The huge plane is laden with 725 gallons of gasoline. It rose from the field with difficulty and it was necessary to circle Rockwell field twice before getting fully under way.

It was 6:07 when the plane completed its last circle at a height of about 300 feet and its two pilots waved a final goodbye to the cheering throng beneath them.

VETERAN MADE HAPPY BY DISABLED BUREAU

Cincinnati, Oct. 5.—Donald O'Flaherty, one legged war veteran of Los Vegas, N. M., left Cincinnati this morning for New York City with money in his pocket and a song on his lips to meet the sweetheart whom he left in Ireland 15 years ago. A few hours earlier he tramped the streets of this city wondering whether to give away his last half dollar or take it into the river with him because he had lost all of his money in St. Louis and so had given up hope, or being at the boat when "Mollie" came in. Some one directed him to the disabled veterans' headquarters where his story resulted in his finances being replenished.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS DAMAGE WROUGHT IN EASTERN SECTION

Towns of Haileybury and North Cobalt Destroyed—More Than 5,000 Homeless—Prayers Offered For Rain.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 5.—Thirty lives have been lost in forest fires that are raking in the eastern part of the province of Ontario, said advices from Timiskaming today.

The towns of Haileybury and North Cobalt have been destroyed.

All the timber and human habitations over a radius of 2,500 square miles have been destroyed.

A large section of Timiskaming and Northern Ontario railway line was wiped out.

The damage will reach millions of dollars.

Premier Drury, departed for the fire zone on a special train to direct the fight of the flames in person.

It is feared that sisters of the Roman Catholic Hospital at Providence, who remained behind to rescue helpless patients perished in the flames which swept over the town. More than 5,000 persons are homeless. In addition to Haileybury and North Cobalt the towns of Healdsburg and Charlton have been destroyed. Englehart has been partly destroyed.

Fourteen hundred refugees have left Cobalt for North Bay.

Prayers are being offered for rain but there seems to be no prospect of it.

Four Firemen Trapped In Elevator Die At Posts

Many in Crowd Witnessing Conflagration Weep as Bodies are Brought From Burning Structure.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—Trapped in an elevator jammed between two floors of a burning warehouse here, four firemen were burned to death, early today. The dead are Patrick A. Murray, Jr., Albert Fisher, Thomas Galloway, and Edward Paxon. All are of Philadelphia.

Paxon, Galloway and Fisher were overseas veterans. The warehouse, a six-story structure on north American street, owned by Joseph Bielitzky, was practically destroyed with an estimated loss of $100,000.

The four firemen met their death while hoisting hose lines in the elevator. They had already made several trips when the flames gathered such headway that Battalion Chief Humphreys ordered his men down. But the elevator had already started and his voice was lost in the roar of the flames. A minute later the electric current in the building was snuffed out stalling the elevator up somewhere in the blazing pile. Frantically, Humphreys and a group of men hurried their way up a tottering stairway, and through the inferno to the elevator shaft.

"Boys, boys!" shouted the chief. There was no response.

With swinging axes, the rescuers hacked their way to the blazing elevator with its heroic little crew. The four men were found lying with their faces toward the blaze, their axes handles charred and hose burned through.

Many in the crowd wept as the dead men were carried out of the building in the arms of their comrades.

Right of Government To Intervene Is Defended

Gov. Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, In Address Before Bankers' Convention Denies Intervention is Abridgment of Rights.

New York, Oct. 5.—The right of the government to intervene in disputes between employer and employee in the interest of industrial justice was warmly defended today by Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas in an address to the American Bankers' Association.

Gov. Allen denied that such intervention by the government was an abridgment of the rights of citizenship or the privilege of free speech. He expressed regret that the government has not been able to find some stabilizing influence for industry as powerful as the federal reserve system in the financial field.

WOULD LIKE TO SEE FEDERAL CONTROL

Columbus, Oct. 5.—That owners like to see the government purchase the utilities is the declaration made by J. W. McMahon, Toledo, addressing the convention of the Ohio Gas and Oil Men's Association here. McMahon declared the capitalist owners would be pleased to thus get their money out of an investment "that is far from mobile."

He predicted that the natural gas industry must expand and occupy its position among the huge successes of American industrial history. The only time he fears regulation is when regulation defies economic law, said L. B. Denning, vice president of the Ohio Fuel Supply Company. Judge S. M. Douglas, Mansfield, seconding Mr. Denning's remarks, asserted that public relations constitutes the gas industries most important problem.

State director of Commerce Phipps said there is a tendency towards over regulation of the gas industry. Although he approves of regulation he said he did not believe "business should be throttled by it."

Establishment of the industrial relations court in Kansas was cited by Gov. Allen as an example of his claim that governments can justly provide for the industrial welfare of the workers. He pointed out that probably ninety per cent. of the cases heard by the Kansas court were brought before it by the employees. In forty-three out of forty-five important decisions handed down by the court, he declared, the ruling had been acceptable to both sides.

Gov. Allen made it clear that he considered the right of the state to establish such a court is undeniable and said that he saw no signs that the court had in any way operated to imperil the right of free speech.

Early restoration or normal conditions in business was predicted by A. W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury in a telegram which was read to the convention today by President McAdams.

The report of the economic policy commission of the association advocated all possible relief by the government to disabled veterans but disapproved of the "distribution of bonuses to all soldiers, regardless of their present condition." It likewise expressed the view that "the present high wages of railroad employees must be readjusted," and advocated the repeal of such sections of the shipping laws as "make it possible for American ship owners to compete on an equal basis with other countries."

MENTALLY AFFLICTED SEE RAY OF HOPE IN FIRST PSYCHOPATHIC CLINIC HELD HERE THURSDAY UNDER AUSPICES OF PHYSICIANS

Hope, by individuals who feel that life has become too hard for them, who lack the normal desire to associate with other people who feel that they are misunderstood, slighted or shunned by others, that their condition might be relieved or cured, was the result of the pioneer Psychopathic Clinic, held under the auspices of the Greene County Medical Society at the Elk's Club, Thursday.

Persons who feel that the world is against them, who sleep poorly, and have numerous nervous symptoms, had received an invitation to have a frank talk with some of the outstanding mental specialists in the state, in order to correct their condition, and came and after their examination went away relieved in body and mind.

Greene County was chosen by the State Bureau of Juvenile Research under whose auspices the clinic was held, as the place for one of the first of the clinics, the first of which was held in Warren, Ohio. This county was selected as state officials because it may be proud of having one of the ablest Medical Societies in the State and a Juvenile Court Judge, according to officials of the State Bureau, who is in sympathy with the persons suffering from mental diseases in their early form and who strive to correct the causes.

The success of the clinic was illustrated by the number of patients who responded to the invitation of Red Cross, Social Service League and Juvenile Research officers. Thursday, 39 people, including 29 people that have been inmates of state mental institutions and have been dismissed either cured or corrected and ten children of patients were divided for examination. Upon their entrance to the clinic the patients were divided for examination among the state physicians present. The examination consisted of asking the patient questions concerning his condition, the symptoms and a history of possible hereditary causes. The name of the family physician of each patient was taken by the doctor, for further treatment and supervision.

The cases received at the clinic included new patients in the city or county who had shown symptoms of mental trouble, and who had not received state medical treatment and had been lost track of, and children of patients, who have also shown symptoms of possible mental trouble.

The clinic opened at nine o'clock, conducted by Dr. E. A. Baber, head of the Dayton State Hospital and Dr. E. M. Baehr, chief of the Bureau of Juvenile Research at Columbus, assisted by Miss Natalie B. Merrill, Field Organizer for the Bureau of Juvenile Research and Mrs. Madge Frank, field worker of the Dayton State Hospital.

"A flying clinic" was the term applied to the meeting by Dr. Baehr in an interview Thursday morning. "The primary object of the clinic," said Dr. Baehr, "is to get in touch with those people in Greene County who have been in state institutions for mental trouble, for the past ten years. After their dismissal from the state institutions 'the patients are often lost track of,' said Dr. Baehr, 'their cases being lost other than an occasional return visit to the hospital following their dismissal.'

"It is vitally necessary to the state for the officials to keep in touch with each case and in order to accomplish this a field worker should be established in each county, working in co-operation with the state institutions. If a field worker was established in Greene County, she would be attached to the Dayton State Hospital, and have her city as her headquarters, but would work at intervals over the entire part of Greene County. It is to this aim that the clinic is being held in Xenia today which if successful, we hope will lead to the State Department seeing the need of the field worker in county and establish one here. If such is the case work will cease and no more clinics will be held."

This question is a matter of opinion on the part of physicians, some holding the opinion that the success of the clinic would lead to others being held over the county, and others agreeing with Dr. Baehr's idea, that of the establishment of a field worker in the county.

"The clinic," Dr. Baehr said, "comes out of the State Bureau of Juvenile Research, through the cooperation of Dr. Baber, superintendent of the state hospital."

Local and state physicians at the clinic received the cooperation of school authorities, the problem of feeble mindedness being met in the Xenia and Greene County Schools, the officials of which are seeking the aid of the state department in overcoming the growing problem.

Dr. W. A. Galloway, a member of the committee of the Greene County Medical Society in charge of the clinic, which is composed of Dr. A. C. Messenger, Dr. B. R. McClellan, and Dr. Galloway, voiced the attitude of the Medical Society, as being in sympathy with the outlook of the state physicians, in holding the clinic, and the success which it will realize.

Knowing that persons suffering from mental disease in its early form are often misjudged by other members of their family and friends because the real source of their trouble is not recognized, the Medical Society, and the State physicians, solicited the aid of the Greene County Red Cross, and Social Service League, in lining up people, who had shown symptoms of the trouble. Miss Helen Evers, Red Cross Public Health Nurse, and Miss Louise B. Shaffer, executive secretary of the Red Cross with Mrs. Carrie I. Robertson, secretary of the Social Service League and Mrs. Margaret Kelly, Social Service League Public Health nurse, have co-operated with Miss Merrill of the State Department in reaching the people whom it is thought the clinic would benefit.

WOMAN PRISONER KEPT UP CONSTANT SCREAMING IN CELL

That Mrs. Jennie Taylor, arrested Wednesday night on a charge of disorderly conduct, is demented is the belief of employees at the City Building who were forced to listen to the almost continuous screaming which she kept up from the time she was taken into custody until she was taken to the Dayton Work House to serve her sentence of $10 and costs. Doors into the cell room were kept closed Thursday morning but the woman's screams could be heard all over the building and caused goose flesh sensations with all force to hear her. When arraigned in police court Thursday morning the woman stated she did not care where they sent her and then startled the

For Your Back and Kidneys You Will Have Vigorous Vitality if You Follow This Advice

Columbus, Ohio—"Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets are the best medicine I have ever taken for kidney disorders. My kidneys were congested and inactive, my back ached and was so sore I could not bear to touch it. In addition to my kidneys hurting, my bladder was very weak. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice and upon his advice I took the Anuric Tablets and the result was wonderful. I had taken Anuric only a very short time when I was rid of all my bladder weakness and my kidneys became active and normal. I do not suffer any more with my back. I would advise those who suffer with any kidney disorder or bladder trouble to take 'Anuric' without delay."—Monford Slagle, 447 W. 18th St.

FOOTBALL IS BEST GAME FOR BOYS

London, Oct. 5.—"Never let your boy play golf. Let his grandfather play golf if he likes. It's a good man's game."

These are the opinions of Hamilton Archibald, given as President of the United Kingdom Band of Hope Jubilee Conference at Birmingham. He claimed that group games are most useful because they inculcate reverent submission to rules.

"Tennis is no game for boys, because it does not develop the co-operative spirit."

"There is nothing like football. Play develops the child's physique."

These were also among Archibald's pearls of wisdom. "What the world needs," he continued, "is men who can do things. It is already full enough of men who can talk things. Play assists the child in his effort to express himself."

"Play develops courage by fixing the mind, the predominant air, and leads to the subordination of self, which is the basis of courage. The boy is to be feared is the boy born with a beard the young-old child. Play develops a spontaneous spirit of co-operation."

TWO ARE FINED.

Mrs. Jennie Taylor, 24, of Troy, and her estranged husband, Lee Taylor, 24 of Cedarville, both colored, were each fined $10 and costs by Judge E. D. Broad minded doctors and dentists who have given MOAVA DENTAL CREAM—a highly concentrated formula for the treatment of Pyorrhea—a trial are astonished at the rapid results obtained.

It seems almost unbelievable but it is a fact nevertheless that a few treatments over a period of one or two days makes the gums feel better and reduces the soreness. Used faithfully for one week, a decided improvement is seen. Continue for a few weeks until the gums are healthy, the sponginess and soreness all gone and the teeth are firm and immovable.

All druggists who sell MOAVA TOOTH PASTE are authorized to return the purchase price to anyone who cannot see a decided improvement after its use. Sayre & Hemphill can supply you.

It is being sponsored by the Pan-Pacific Union, Alexander Hume Ford, secretary of the Pan-Pacific Union, has just returned from a 30,000 mile trip throughout the United States where he has been promoting the Commercial Congress. KISSING OF BABIES AS A VOTE GETTER BEING DISCARDED

Akron, Oct. 5.—Is the ancient custom of political candidates kissing babies going into the discard?

It looks here as if such is the case. As in years gone by, office-seekers galore thronged the county Fair here this Fall, overworking the glad-handing art and passing out bushels of campaign advertising cards.

But a close survey of the situation failed to disclose a single instance of a candidate kissing a baby.

One thoughtful observer ventured the suggestion that since women now have the ballot a well directed osculation implanted on the offspring of a qualified voter ought to be more effective than heretofore. Another exponent of direct action suggested a less roundabout way of applying this method.

WOMEN TO DEMAND FULL LEGAL RIGHTS.

National Woman's Party leaders will attempt to inject their fight for a single legal standard for men and women into all fall campaigns as the paramount sex issue of the second national election in which women have voted.

Indorsement of an "equal-rights" plank, designed to give women full political, legal and civil equality with men, is being asked of all candidates and State conventions by the National Woman's Party. Alice Paul, vice president of the party, has returned to Washington from the New York State Republican convention, which adopted such a plank, announced her organization intended "to make this issue a paramount political issue just as it made suffrage a political issue of prime importance in previous elections." She said most State candidates were indorsing the plank.

"Women voters are demanding that the suffrage victory be carried to its logical fulfillment in the granting to women of complete political, legal and civic equality with men," Miss Paul said. "Candidates who wish to appeal to the women voter will adopt such a plank in their platforms."

ANXIETY IS JUSTIFIED.

Thinking people are watching the developments in Greece, Turkey and the Dardanelles with the greatest anxiety. There was a time when Americans paid little heed to the doings of Europe, but we have learned our lesson and know that once the flame of war is kindled no one can tell where it will end.

Should Turkey and Great Britain begin hostilities beyond a doubt one nation after another would be drawn in until the conflict might become another world slaughter. Russia is pledged to aid Turkey, and Bulgaria is anxious to get in. Jugo-Slavia and Greece with ultimately France and Italy would be on Britain's side.

Germany, even less exhausted than France, would no doubt grasp a possible opportunity to recover some of the things she lost in the treaty of Versailles, and thus the war could easily spread all over Europe and then across the seas to our own shores.

All the world would like to see Turkey made impotent and forever barred from Europe, but it is doubtful if the world wants to see it at the expense of another catastrophe such as Germany initiated in 1914.

It is to be hoped that diplomacy and not bloodshed will settle the present difficulties in southern Europe. Thoughtful persons view the possibility of another war with horror. We may well pray God that a suffering people be spared.

DEFLATION FOR THE PULLMAN.

Activities sponsored by trade organizations all over the country to secure a reduction of the surcharge on Pullman tickets will wake a responsive chord.

It is felt by the organizations in question that the excessive cost of Pullman fares is acting in no small degree in restraint of the general business revival and that the restoration of normal business conditions will be speeded by the elimination of this extra charge. It is pointed out that the cost of these fares is keeping traveling salesmen off the road and makes more difficult the personal contact and interchange of ideas which are a spur to business and cordial business relations. The increased overhead they involve results inevitably in higher prices. It is urged that legislation now pending to expedite the removal of the surcharge be put through at once by congress.

As a matter of theory, those who ride in Pullmans can afford to pay an extra tax for the privilege. As a matter of fact, a high percentage of the traveling which is done other than in vacation periods is done from necessity and the imposition of an extra fee works hardship in many cases.

The fare is a private matter and in no sense a government tax. There may have been some excuse for it when it was first levied, but it would be hard to convince the people that there is any good reason why the deflation which has taken place in so many other lines should be delayed longer here.

GRAPEFRUIT GAINS ON ORANGE.

Estimates by the United States Department of Agriculture put Florida's citrus crop for the coming season at 15,000,000 boxes. Of this total about 8,400,000 boxes will be oranges and tangerines and 6,600,000 boxes grapefruit.

The growth of the citrus industry during the past decade has been commensurate with the growth of Florida, but to the old timers the great increase in the production of grapefruit is remarkable. Twenty years ago, or possibly a little more, the grapefruit was an outcast in most Florida groves. An occasional tree would be allowed to spring up and occupy space because space was not very valuable and some member of the growers' family liked grapefruit.

Producing grapefruit for market is a comparatively new industry, and the rapid growth of the industry indicates that all America is learning that Florida produces the most appetizing and wholesome of all breakfast relishes.

Preparations were begun today by the Pan Handle for the work of putting in a new overhead bridge on Detroit Street. This has been under contemplation for some time, the bridge being too light and in bad repair.

Many Xenians will remember that Elsie de Tournay, the French actress who is to appear here next week, was at one time a resident of Xenia and that she and her husband Edwin Rostell once conducted a dramatic class in Xenia. They first appeared here with Walker Whitehead afterward returning to teach a class in drama.

Rejuvenating Old Faces.

I wonder whether my men readers would be interested in the experiences of an elderly man, who, for business reasons, had to make his face look young, and who did so through exercise. Perhaps even some of my women readers will find a hint or two, though women are popularly supposed to prefer cosmetics.

This man used one cosmetic a little while ago, but he never used it when massaging or exercising the face because he claimed that the friction produced by the dry palms of the hands was more beneficial than oil or cream.

The daily face friction or massage will eliminate wrinkles and tone up sagging muscles by drawing up fresh blood and fresh supplies of fat to go under the skin to build it up. But for the first several weeks the beginner must expect the face to be thinner. This is because a certain amount of loose fat is rubbed away before the new firm flesh begins to form.

This man massaged the muscles of the cheeks firmly with the palms of the hands, pressing upward and back toward the temples, about 10 or 15 movements altogether. His mouth he massaged by inserting the little fingers at the corners of the lips and alternately pulling and relaxing. The forehead was rubbed briskly toward the temples, the chin rubbed vigorously at its point, the jaws rubbed backwards from the mouth to the ear.

This facial massage was taken in bed every morning. These treatments were also taken in connection with the various other massage and exercises for the entire body. The face would naturally benefit by all these other exercises as well.

After the massage vaseline was rubbed into the skin and wiped off with warm water.

K. M. R.—Olive oil is not a hair tonic so you would not benefit by using it except to relieve dryness of the scalp. If the hair is inclined to be dry heated curling irons are injurious. Consult your doctor regarding the dark circles around the eyes.

Louise May—I should not attempt to remove moles with acid, as a bad scar would be the result. Mop a little witch hazel or toilet water on the nose to relieve oiliness. At 10 years, 5 feet 3 inches, you should weigh about 129 pounds.

Miss M. L. F.—You can easily rid yourself of all these blackheads over your body, if you take a daily hot bath using a bathbrush. After the scrubbing cool the bath water until at the end it will be cold, or better still finish with a cold shower. A number of Turkish baths would clear out these blackheads in less time than the work you could do for yourself.

Grace—At 23, five feet seven inches you should weigh 130 pounds. To gain in weight drink milk and use plenty of butter.

Lou—A canton crepe of extra quality makes a good choice for a dress that must be worn for a long time and for different occasions. With brown eyes, dark hair and olive skin you would look well in brown, relieved with orange or tan in the facings.

Tomorrow—Hair Tonics.

EARLY RISING.

My rude forefathers used to say, "If you expect to grow and thrive, at nine o'clock you'll hit the hay, and you'll get up at half past five. In daylight hours you'll strive and strain, and in the night you'll calmly snooze; the early bird," they would explain, "takes in the worm that sluggards lose." Through all the younger years of mine, the course prescribed was fairly run, and I was sound asleep by nine, and up a-coming with the sun. And now that I am growing old, my sorrel whiskers streaked with gray, the ingrown habit keeps its hold, and I am up at break o' day. And when the clocks are striking nine, and darkness veils the windswept lea, I say, "That downy couch of mine, up near the roof, looks good to me!" When I consult the village vet, who doctors me when I am ill, he says, "You're good for long years yet—you do not need the leech's skill. It's wonderful how blithe you skip beneath the burden of your years; while other gray-beards lose their grip, you're husky as a yoke of steers!" The wise old maxims of our dads in modern days don't always thrive; but still some bright precocious lads retire at nine and rise at five.

DON'T CLUTTER

You rarely find a true executive's desk cluttered up. For an executive is one who keeps getting things done. Like a good traffic officer, he keeps things moving and thus enables great tasks to be performed.

A cluttered desk in an office is almost always evidence of a lack of ability to keep things moving toward a worth while, definite end.

Please don't clutter!

It is surprising how few things in a desk are needed, when one comes to cleaning it out. The modern business man long ago realized the error of a "roll top desk." Too many workers could leave their days work incomplete by merely pulling down the top of a disordered desk. And so the flat top desk became and remains the popular type of office furniture. It is an incentive to order and accomplishment.

Ann Phillips, the beloved wife of the great orator, Wendell Phillips, used to say to him when he left for a lecture tour: "Wendell, don't shilly-shally!" Meaning that she wanted him to speak out plain, leaving no excuses behind.

In like manner, we should say to ourselves as we enter our day: "Don't clutter!"

I went through a famous printing office not long ago. I never viewed finer order of arrangement, and system. No wonder, I thought, that this is such a monumental business. I was told that the partners made money from the very start. I thought of the scores of other shops I had visited where disorder seemed to be the prevailing plan and where complaints of poor business originate so often.

Don't clutter. Clean up as you go. It is a fact, seldom thought about, that each of us is his own best influence. We are inspired by our own effectiveness or are discouraged by our own lack of effort and will.

Complete the job at hand and then move on to the next—until you have a clean slate. Then you may go home to happy associations and enjoy your heritage of restful sleep and delicious dreams!

Facts About Child-Birth

An eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from dread, and from much of the suffering which many mothers experience for months, right up to the moment when the little one arrives!

Mrs. Wm. Washington, 197 Louise Ave., Nashville, Tenn., says: "There is positively no woman on earth that would be without Mother's Friend during expectancy if she only knew the value of comfort."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied to the region of the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves the tension on nerves and ligaments as months follows month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy instead of a painful dread.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait until today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., B.A.-47, Atlanta, Ga., for a free booklet containing information every expectant mother should have. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold by all druggists everywhere.

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR TO GIVE PLAY OF BIBLICAL TIMES

Elaborate plans are being laid by the members of Aldora Chapter No. 242 Order Eastern Star for the dramatic offering "The Dream of Queen Esther," to be staged by the lodge at the Xenia Opera House. Thursday and Friday, October 19 and 20.

Rehearsals have been held of the cast of the play including forty persons, at various intervals since the first week in August, and the play is rapidly rounding into shape as one of the largest of the local home-talent offerings.

The theme of the play is along Biblical lines, the plot being taken from the Book of Esther, Mrs. Susan West of Dayton, a dramatic Art teacher of that city, has been in charge of the rehearsals, four of the seven leading characters being chosen from Dayton. The cast of the play includes the members of the lodge, with a few others, especially chosen for the various parts.

AMERICAN DOLLAR BELOW PAR IN CANADA

Montreal, Oct. 5.—For the first time in a number of years United States dollars were not accepted at their par value at the City Hall yesterday when tendered in payment of large taxes.

Assistant City Treasurer Collins explained that this action was taken upon notification from local bankers that American dollars were selling at a slight discount in this market. Mr. Collins said that a few small tax payers who had no other money, were permitted to pay in American dollars, but that Canadian money was insisted on for large taxes.

"The city of Montreal," he said, "does not regret to see this change as the city has been paying high premiums on remittances to New York during the last two years. In several instances the premium was as high as 15 per cent which amounted one year to $85,000."

Styles BY LENORE

Just to prove how easily a smart frock like the one illustrated can be made even by the most inexperienced seamstress, the artist has obliged with a sketch of the pattern. A single length of the material, you see, allowing enough for a fairly deep hem; a rounded neck, with the edges self-bound, a patch pocket, finished with a band that is attached to the frock and drawn through a slash—a favorite idea of Lanvin's, this—and presto—an elegantly simple frock that needs only a belt, which may be of self material or one of the attractive novelties shown in the shops. Tiny tassels link the neck. Navy blue, brown or rust crepe may be used.

RECIPES FOR "MANGO" PICKLES

The well-stocked preserve closet contains a few jars of "mango" pickles for use on guest occasions.

The real mango is a fruit formerly found only in Southern Asia, but now grown in nearly all sub-tropical countries. In addition to its use as a fruit, the mango forms the basis of most chutneys of the East India type. The mango melon is a small round melon with yellow skin and white flesh.

But the term "mango" is now applied to stuffed pickles and the housewife of today who talks about her "mangoes" has never seen a real mango melon; she refers to any small green melon stuffed, burred, gherkins, stuffed, or stuffed green peppers. The following pickles are called "mangoes" in our country:

Cantaloupe Mango Pickles: Cure tiny green nutmeg cantaloupes in brine as follows: Use one pound of salt to every six quarts of water needed to cover the melons, and weight down the melons in this until "frothing" ceases. (By frothing I mean the small bubbles which begin to appear on top of the water after you put the melons into the brine. Indicating that fermentation is taking place. After several days, however, the bubbles will disappear.) When the frothing ceases, the melons must be soaked in clear, cold water for two days. After this soaking, scald them in a kettle lined with spinach or with grape leaves, in water to cover; drain and boil them for 15 minutes in weak vinegar. Drain again and cover them with the following spiced vinegar, letting them stand in this for one week.

Spiced Vinegar: To six cups of hot vinegar, add one ounce of stick cinnamon, one half ounce of cloves and one half ounce of dried ginger root (this can be obtained from a drugstore); boil this mixture for five minutes. (Double this recipe as many times as necessary to cover the number of cantaloupe melons you wish to pickle.)

When the cantaloupes have soaked for a week in this cold, spiced vinegar, take them from it (saving the spiced vinegar) remove a small disc from the top of each melon, scoop out the interiors of each, and stuff them with the following mixture:

Stuffing for Cantaloupe Mangoes: One pound of ginger soaked in brine for two days, until soft enough to slice; one ounce of ground black pepper, one ounce of allspice, one-fourth pound of garlic soaked for two days in a weak brine, then dried; one ounce of crushed celery seed. one ounce of mace; one-half ounce of cloves, one cup of grated horseradish and four ounces each of white and yellow mustard seed. (A pint of chopped, sweet pickles or preserved watermelon rind will improve the flavor of this filling). Mix all these ingredients together, then add to them one teaspoonful of salad oil. Put one teaspoonful of brown sugar into each melon, chop up any melon which is broken and add this to the mixture also, then begin stuffing the melons.

This recipe will stuff about four dozen melons. When packed full of the mixture replace the skin-disc which you previously removed, secure it in place with toothpicks, pack the melons in sterilized glass jars and cover them with the spiced vinegar used previously but now sweetened to taste (bring it to the boiling point before pouring it over the melons.) Partially seal jars, process in hot water bath for 15 minutes (to seal airtight), completely seal, and store.

LEGION PREPARES TO MEET WEST ALEX

Coach George Badner of the American Legion football team is giving his proteges a stiff drilling this week in anticipation of the game here Sunday afternoon with West Alexandria.

The showing of the Legion eleven last Sunday was not at all pleasing to either Coach or fans, and as a result the athletes are being subjected to unusually stiff rehearsals, especially in signal drill. The team will practice Friday night at the Washington street park.

Wes, Alex boasts of a clever and aggressive combination of gridders including practically former high school stars. The team held its own well with Cincinnati clubs last fall, and is promising the locals plenty of opposition in the coming game. Local fans are hoping that the Legion eleven will be able to summon a full lineup into the coming fracas, the team work of the Legion team being shown last Sunday because of the absence of several stars. These athletes will be back in the line-up day, and are expected to greatly strengthen the team play. game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

How he used to have an iron bed, and every time he got hold of a man, he'd lay him down to see if he'd fit the bed.

If the chap was too long, Procrustes would chop some off where it did the most good.

If he was too short, the obliging old scallawag would stretch him out till he fitted.

He buys a cap—of a certain fixed size. He gets caught in the rain. His cap shrinks, but his head doesn't. Still—that cap's gotta fit that head!

ENGLAND, ONLY EUROPEAN NATION THAT CAN PAY HER DEBTS, DECLARES McKENNA

BRITISH BANKER IN ADDRESS IN AMERICA

New York, Oct. 5.—The problem of adjustment of international debts is one "in which England and America are equally concerned and in which both have the same interest, as creditors," the Right Hon. Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of the British exchequer told the American Bankers Association here yesterday.

Great Britain will pay her debt to the United States, McKenna said, but he intimated strongly that he regarded adjustment of other foreign debts as closely co-related with the time the payment is to be made and the mode of payment that is to be followed.

It was not a roseate picture of world economic conditions that the head of the London Joint City and Midland Bank, Ltd., one of the strongest financial institutions in Europe largely upon the development of her "exportable surplus." Interest from foreign investments and payment for external surplus, such as shipping, he said must be included as items of exportable surplus. As a result of the disappearance of Germany's foreign investments, the confiscation of her shipping and the loss of Alsace Lorraine, the Saar basin and the Polish provinces Germany's sources of exportable surplus have been greatly impaired.

At no time was Germany's exportable surplus sufficient to enable her to make the annual payments demanded under the London ultimatum, McKenna declared.

The general argument that a nation, except so far as it has an exportable surplus, can only pay foreign debts out of the wealth it has accumulated outside of its own country is applicable, Mr. McKenna contended, to the other international debts as well as to the reparations question. England, he said, is the only European nation possessing any large accumulation of such assets.

"Notwithstanding her immense sale of securities to the United States in the second and third years of the war," McKenna said, "England still owns sufficient foreign securities to cover her debt to the United States two or three times over. But neither France nor Italy has similar reserves of wealth and I doubt whether either of them has sufficient to meet more than a trifling part of their foreign debt."

France's debt, McKenna declared, is far too great to be taken care of by the production and exportation of goods because the immense demand for trade commodities created by the war "has no parallel in peace."

"The conclusion to which I am driven," said Mr. McKenna, "is that Germany can only pay now whatever she may have in foreign balances together with such amount as she can realize by the sale of her remaining foreign securities; that this payment is only possible if all other demands are postponed for a definite period long enough to insure the stabilization of the mark; and that future demands at the expiration of this period must be limited to the annual amount of Germany's exportable surplus at that time. Further that England has the capacity to pay to the United States interest and sinking fund of her debt; but that the other are none of them in a position to meet more than a small part of their external liabilities and in the existing conditions of Europe a definite postponement of any payment by them is desirable in the interest of all parties. The actual amount which the other debtors could ultimately pay should, as in the case of Germany be ascertained by a full and frank conference between creditors and debtors."

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for seven years and I cannot tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I am at that time of life when it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's help. My husband saw your ad. in the papers and said 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles.' So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every one about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well."—Mrs. E. J. LINTON, 1850 West 83d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.

Carnage Greets Final Stand Of Sioux Chief-Xenia Survivor Tells Story

Where a mere handful of American Army men brought to a tragic end the warring career of Red Cloud, chief of the Sioux Indians, by killing over 1,000 Indians in the so-called "wagon-box fight" on the hot plains of Wyoming, in 1866, Charles H. Wilson, Springfield, this city, himself a mere stripling, did his part by loading guns and there witnessed the most overwhelming slaughter of the redskins ever written into the pages of American history.

Army tanks and the deadly poison gases had their winners during the recent world war, when hundreds of casualties were claimed each day and many more were sent to their homes maimed or incurably ill. But there is probably no battle on record in which American soldiers figured, where a more complete carnage was brought about by such a small number of soldiers, than this slaughter of the Sioux on their last important stand near Fort Phil Kearney.

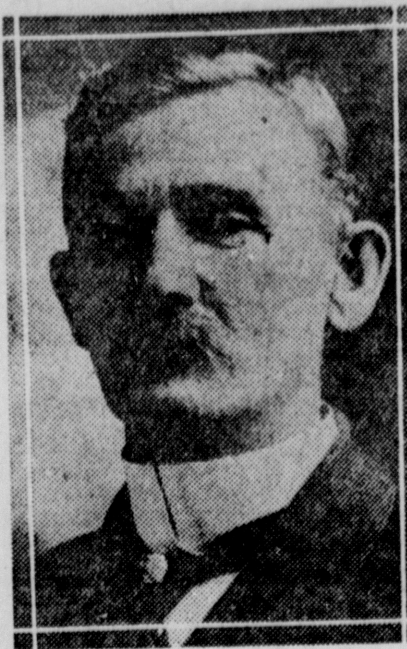

The fight in which Captain W. L. Fetterman and his company of 81 men were wiped out to a single man near Fort Phil Kearney, Wyoming, a few days before Christmas, 1866, was up to that time the worst disaster that had ever befallen American soldiers in the Indian wars, and it made the name of Red Cloud, who thereafter was made war chief of the Sioux. Nerved by this victory Red Cloud immediately set about plans to clear the fine hunting grounds of the Powder River sections of the "paleface" warriors, and early in the summer of 1867 he began the training of a party of 3,000 Sioux Indians armed largely with inchester rifles, Spencer repeating carbines and army muskets captured in battle.

While Red Cloud was preparing to strike, the post quartermaster at Fort Phil Kearney contracted with civilians for wood for the fort, and agreed to furnish a guard for the men employed by the contractors. Captain James Powell, Commanding C. Company, 27th Infantry, was detailed for this guard, and although Mr. Wilson, then but 16 years of age was a member of H. Company, he was also detailed for the guard.

The woodmen set up their mule camp on the open plain, where they unloaded the wagon-boxes, which would not be used in hauling the logs. In preparation for an Indian outbreak, Captain Powell ordered these wagon boxes set up in the form of a brigade, oval in shape within which the men withdrew, armed with the new Springfield breech-loading rifles which were then unknown to the Sioux. According to Mr. Wilson the enclosure was about 30 feet across the boxes being eight feet in width and the barricade from 6-12 to seven feet high, with loop holes provided at the intersections, where logs and sacks of grain were used to fill up the open spaces.

While Powell was completing his preparations for battle, Red Cloud was leading between 3,000 and 4,000 Redskins to the scene, accompanied by the women and children who were to witness the victory and assist in the mutilation and torture. The fight began early in the morning of the second of August, 200 Indians stampeding the mule herd and then attacking the wood camp, some distance from the barricade, and protected by a small number of soldiers. These men withdrew toward the barricade and eventually reached the hastily-built fort, so that the number of the defenders was increased to 32, including a few civilian frontiersmen.

Although the odds were 100 to one against them, Powell's men made cool preparation for the attack, the better shots manning the loop-holes and others preparing to load and reload the new rifles. Five hundred Sioux made the first attack. Mounted on ponies they charged the corral 1000 redskins forming behind them as support. They approached within 50 yards of the corral before Powell gave word to fire and a withering fusillade of lead poured into them. The Redskins expected two rounds and then silence. Instead they were greeted by continual firing, made possible by the new guns of which they had no knowledge. The wave of attackers broke under the incessant fire, and breaking they galloped back to safety. Dead and dying warriors lay in piles around the enclosure, while within, Lieutenant James and a private soldier had been killed and two enlisted men mortally wounded.

Red Cloud was puzzled by this exhibition of strength on the part of the few defenders he knew to be concealed behind the barricade and this time he detailed 700 men to strip to their breech-clouts and crawl forward as snipers, to be followed by 2,000 more in volume. The 700 snipers reached their positions with only a few losses the whites firing only when they saw and occasional Indian. They immediately began pouring bullets into the wagon-boxes, the tops of which were torn by the deadly fire. Then came the order for the massed charge and led by a nephew of Red Cloud, the braves swept forward on horseback. The order to fire came again at point-blank range, and great gaps were torn in the ranks of the horsemen. Powell's own weapon brought down the young chief. Even in the face of this fire, the braves forced their way to the sides of the wagon boxes before they were checked by the withering fire. Some of those nearest attributed the continued fire of the whites to some new "medicine" of the defenders. The Indians retreated in confusion only to reform and so courageous were they that they made six separate attempts to drive out the garrison, before they were finally repelled and routed.

Sickened at heart by the showing of his warriors, Red Cloud suspended hostilities and because the whites needed to conserve their dwindling ammunition supply, they did not molest the Indians who attempted to carry off their dead. Before they had finished this work however, a shell burst among them, and a shout broke out from defenders as 100 men from the fort, with a howitzer, arrived on the scene. The relief came none too soon as the 28 surviving defenders were exhausted by more than three hours' continual fighting, and their supply of ammunition was sadly depleted.

Red Cloud's spirit was so broken that he did not attempt a counter attack on the soldiers as they were retreating to the fort, and never participated in another great battle. He admitted afterwards that his losses were 1135 in killed and wounded. Each defender on an average had accounted for 36 Redskins.

A civilian Scout who was in the party, later asked how many he had killed during the fighting, said, "I can't say for certain, but give me a dead rest and I can hit a dollar at fifty yards every time, and I fired with a dead rest at more'n fifty of them varmints inside of fifty yards."

"For Heaven's sake, how many times did you fire?" exclaimed the General. "Wall," he replied, "I can't say for certain, but I kept eight guns pretty well hot up for more'n three hours."

The Indians in the attacking party used mostly captured guns, but in many cases they had no ammunition, according to Wilson. In these instances they loaded the guns with bits of iron, metal or pebbles. Many of them used the primitive bow and arrow also he said.

Mr. Wilson enlisted in the service of the Union forces in 1865 when he was 15 years of age, he says, at Columbus and served as message bearer in the battle of Nashville, the only Civil War conflict in which he participated. Afterward he was sent with his outfit to Fort Phil Kearney, where he took part in many Indian skirmishes, including the famous "wagon-box fight" in which he participated when only 16 years of age. Mr. Wilson now makes his home with his son in law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Denham, Springfield.

paigned, but he considered that silence on the part of the chief executive is more in keeping with the dignity of his position. His determination not to speak is said to be final.

EVACUATION OF

ZONE CONTINUES

- Tokio, Oct. 5--Since the first Japanese troops began to evacuate Siberia on August 26 there has been a steady stream of Japanese and Korean residents out of the former occupied zone. The hostility toward themselves that the Japanese incurred by prolonged occupation of Siberia leaves no other course open to them. Another child of the War Office went wrong and Japanese business must suffer.

Approximately 15,000 Japanese and Koreans are returning to Japan or going to Manchuria rather than become commercial and social outcasts with the return of unhampered Russian rule.

- Only a few of the larger Japanese firms will remain in Siberia, and these will retain only branches in Vladivostok. The bank of Chosen will be the only bank to stay.

"ORIGINAL" SULPHUR BATHS

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

District conferences are announced as follows by Mrs. Cornelius S. Selover, Cleveland, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs:

- Middle North, Tiffin, Oct. 10 and 11; Southeast, Athens, Oct. 9 and 10; Middle West, Oct. 24 and 25; Northeast, Akron, Nov. 14 and 15; Northwest, Lima, Nov. 16 and 17; Central, Zanesville, Nov. 21 and 22; Middle East, Barnesville, Nov. 23 and 24.

Already many division chairmen have splendid programs of work to submit to their department chairmen, and, in some cases, they have already done so. Enroute home from Monticello, Tenn., after an extended stay there, Mrs. Selover, the state president, stopped over at Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus to meet the division chairmen, and she was much gratified to see their outlines and plans for active work based, she says: "Upon the last word in club methods, and for club programs."

"Clubs should lose no time in availing themselves of getting this constructive work into their regular club programs," Mrs. Selover continues. "These chairmen have not spared time, labor nor expense in securing for their divisions the very best, latest, and most approved ideas, study, and these ideas will be disseminated through the state by the district, members of the different divisions with the close cooperation of the district vice-presidents."

"The department chairmen will be the guests of the executive board at its meeting and will present the working programs of their division chairmen, also some resolutions for the consideration of the board to be recommended for legislative action this winter."

The executive board is to meet at the summer home of Mrs. James N. Fleming, Cleveland, state federation corresponding secretary, at Gates Mill, but the date has not been announced.

Accompanied by Mrs. Charles H. Kummer of Dayton, chairmen of social and industrial conditions of the state federation, Mrs. Selover recently visited the Girls' Industrial school near Delaware. The state federation has always taken a very keen interest in this institution, the social and industrial conditions committee of the state federation now embracing the various state institutions. Both were decidedly well pleased with conditions as they found them under the supervision of the new superintendent, Mrs. Mae E. Stannard. Voicing her approval in no uncertain terms of Mrs. Stannard's work, the president of the Ohio Federation asserts that the improvement has been marked, although she "has been at the head of the institution only a few months."

Turning to the Girls' Industrial school as an overcrowded institution, Mrs. Selover makes some interesting observations which can not fail to attract the attention of Ohio's thousands of federation club women. She says:

"There are 550 girls here when there should not be more than 500, but the changes inaugurated by Mrs. Stannard will be of great advantage to the girls. They are to be graded and classified in the school according to mental tests given under the supervision and personal direction of Dr. E. M. Baehr, director of the Bureau of Juvenile Research, and to see the girls during recreation hours, playing basketball and engaging in athletic recreation so essential to their mental and physical health, and to hear their laughter and see their faces in a large majority of instances."

"The greatest human quality that transcends all others is sincerity said the speaker for the reason that it is satisfied with nothing but our level best. We need more loyalty of purpose and more sincerity in the world," he concluded.

Previous to the address of Mr. Groom, Ed. S. Davidson, delivered a report on the boy's camp, which was held this summer under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club. The report showed that there were three camps held during the summer two for boys and one for girls besides the one at the end for members of the Kiwanis Club. The committee reported that equipment was all stored and ready for another season as the initial trial had proved successful.

STAGE IS SET FOR BATTLE WITH TROY HIGH HERE FRIDAY

Heavy dust that showed the customers who were parked on the sidelines and choked the participants in the Central High School-Greenville football game last Friday at the Fairgrounds field, has been settled definitely, thanks to the efforts of John R. Beacham, business manager of the city schools.

Thursday the gridiron was thoroughly soaked through the aid of a sprinkler wagon, in lieu of rainfall, which has been holding off until the gridiron is a sea of dust. If the Thursday sprinkling does not alleviate that condition the grid will again be soaked Friday. The oiling has been hard as a paved street, and the soaking should soften the turf for the athletes to tumble on Friday afternoon, when Coach Earl "Puss" Burner's pets meet the Troy High School eleven here.

Troy is coming here with the memory of a defeat handed them by the locals at Troy last season strong in their minds. Local scouts who have seen the Trojans in action say that they have one of the best teams in years, and expect to bring a big crowd of rooters here Friday to see them get revenge for last season's defeat. Johnson, former Ohio State star is coaching the Miami County athletes this season and is said to have his charges working smoothly and well.

While the lineup will be practically the same as used last week, it will be an entirely different team to take the field under the blue and white colors Friday afternoon, according to Coach Burner. So much improvement has been shown by the local pigskin chasers during the early days of this week that fans are going to be mightily surprised by their showing, it is prophesied. The local mentor has developed a new attack and has been drilling his proteges hard on defensive play.

The tentative line up selected by Coach Burner on the eve of what is expected to be one of the stiffest battles of the year follows: Cowan and Smith, ends; Ballentyne and Captain Don Currie, tackles; Wollard Edwards Zell or Hornor, guards; Yeakley, center; Art Currie, quarterback; Randall and Fuller half backs and Hollencamp full back. Coach Burner has two sets of backfield recruits, including Woolary, Botorff, Holton, Gagner and others, who may be used, and there is no present indication but what a lot of the other line material will be thrown into the combat before the game is over.

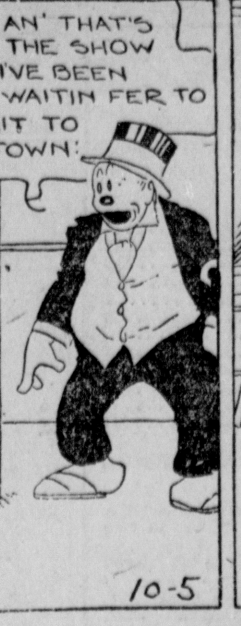

The game is scheduled to start promptly at three o'clock, with Dave Reese, of Dayton, as referee. Reese will also bring along a Dayton man to umpire the game at the request of the Troy team.

BOY, PAGE LUTHER BURBANK, PLEASE

Luther Burbank who spend much valuable time growing freak plants, combining different vegetables and fruits may take a tip from Mr. A. C. Garwood, of North King Street, who this week, pulled a tomato plant up in his yard, which had been bearing its own fruit; and found attached to the roots two small potatoes, growing from the same plant.

The curiosity is a mystery to Mr. Garwood, since no potato plant grows near that of the tomato.

"BARKING LIONS" ARE DOGS SAYS ZOO MAN AS SEARCH IS ENDED

Toledo, Oct. 5.—The "ferocious man-eating lions" that have been terrorizing the natives in the vicinity of Mt. Victory, are two Airedale dogs, according to Louis Scherer, keeper of the Toledo Zoo who spent a day in the woods of Hardin County.

Scherer, who went to satisfy his own curiosity regarding the "wild stories," coming from the downstate wilderness, said on his return that he and his party were greeted by curious barks when they came upon the "prey" at 4 o'clock this morning after an all-night beating of the Hardin County brambles.

He declared that the trail of the "beasts" ended when two Airedale dogs were found concealed in a thicket. The footprints of the "barking lions" corresponded with the prints pointed to by the frightened natives as those of the "jungle monarchs," he said.

Mt. Victory, Oct. 5.—Some 200 men of Kenton and Mt. Victory today were determined when they finished combing a 1000-acre tract of woods they would have two lion pelts or an exploded myth. The force started exploring the woods this morning and were continuing last night.

Another "we saw 'em again last night," report prompted the lion hunters to make an even more determined effort to find out what's in the mystery of the jungle inhabitants. Frank Geber, Mt. Victory garage owner and his son, Merrill, who say they saw the beasts last night, were leading the hunters today.

A Stenographer's Romance

BY JANE PHELPS

HOME AGAIN

Nellie entered at once upon her new duties and found them far more agreeable than she had anticipated. She found a letter from Mr. Fallon waiting her upon her return telling her that she must call upon him in anything which he could be of service. Enclosed was a statement saying she had been invaluable to him as private secretary and so forth. There was little else save reiterated wishes for her happiness and assurances of his continued friendship.

She showed the letter to Mrs. Roberts, answered it telling him what she was doing and thanking him, then put his note carefully away. Her note to him was hard to write, seemed very cold and inadequate but she could do no better and Mrs. Roberts approved.

They resumed their quiet life at the boarding house, save that now Mrs. Roberts went out more frequently because of Nellie's dependence upon her.

"I'm growing young again with you," the old lady said when Nellie protested. "I was shriveling up staying in so much. A concert or a good play doesn't hurt me once in a while. Nellie always accompanied her to church on Sunday morning, and she declared that was recompense for anything she did in going out occasionally in the evening."

"Old people get lonely, my dear, just as often as young ones I used to feel quite forlorn marching off to church alone. Sitting beside strangers. Now it is a delight with you to sit beside me, to walk to and from the church with me. I feel as if I had a young daughter of my own."

Once after she had talked in this strain to Nellie and she had gone to her room to lay off her things before the early Sunday dinner, an institution in the boarding house, she said to herself:

"It pays to be good! Pays in every way. If I wasn't good, hadn't kept myself from doing wrong things."

dear Mrs. Roberts never would have been so sweet to me. She would have known. No one could pretend with her. I guess those traveling men at Miss Carter's did me a good turn even if I did hate them so I was young and silly and if they had not shown me how people looked upon girls who were foolish and wicked I might—"

The boarders had all been kind upon their return; had ignored Nellie's broken engagement, and treated her as if it never had been. All but Miss Pitt. Said she:

"I guess you weren't very much in love with your fiance, Miss Riley. You look better and stronger than I have ever seen you. Most girls—if they were really in love—would have faded away."

"Like they do in novels?" Nellie asked flushing. Why wouldn't Miss Pitt let her alone?

"In life too, Miss Riley. A real love isn't to be laid aside like an old coat. It is too lasting."

"We don't all wear our hearts on our sleeves, Miss Pitt. When an inclination is closed, isn't it wise to forget it; too cease to talk about it?" Mrs. Roberts said in her quiet voice.

"I always said it wasn't a suitable match. Events have proved I was right," Miss Pitt as usual had the last word.

"You must not let her annoy you, Nellie," Mrs. Roberts said when they were alone. "She is a poor, soured old maid—I suppose I should call her a bachelor girl, but it doesn't seem as if she ever had been young. She is to be pitied for making herself disliked."

"But she draws everyone's attention to me. It is so embarrassing," Nellie complained.

"I know dear, but if you don't notice it she will soon find something else to talk of. I feel sorry for her."

"You're a saint! You'd be sorry for the old Nick himself!" Nellie returned, now laughing. "I will try not to let her bother me. I know I have done right."

"I am sure of it my dear. In spite of a certain grief you could not help feeling I am sure you are happier than when you thought you were to be Mr. Fallon's wife. Isn't it so?" "Perhaps," Nellie conceded. "I don't fret and worry any more, if that's a sign."

"I think it is—and a good one. Mr. Right will come along some day. Then there will be no worries no frets."

Why some people sleep "Lightly"

THE PRINCIPAL REASON is irritated nerves, and the common cause of nerve-irritation is coffee and tea drinking. For each cup of coffee or tea contains from one and one-half to three grains of caffeine.

Caffeine has a tendency to agitate the nervous system, when the nerves, normally, should be relaxed. The result is that you fail to get the deep, restful sleep that restores health and vigor.

If you have any idea that coffee or tea is injurious to your health, drink delicious Postum, instead. Postum is the pure cereal beverage that helps the nervous system, by permitting you to get sound, revitalizing sleep.

Serve this fragrant, mealtime beverage. You and the family will be surprised and pleased with its delicious, coffee-like flavor. And better health is worth while.

Postum comes in two forms:—Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling fully twenty minutes.
